IRRIGATION INJUNCTION DISSOLVED

State Supreme Court Annuls Temporary Order Restraining Use of River Water Pending Outcome of Suit

Rice Growers' Contention Is Upheld in Decision Which Declares City Should Have Moved Its Pumps Upstream

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—A temporary injunction restraining irrigation districts and other water users along the Sacramento river from draining the river waters to the extent of endangering the fresh water supply of the town of Antioch, Contra Costa county, was dissolved today by the State Supreme court.

The court held that had Antioch, which is in the delta region where bay and river waters meet, joined with the defendants in moving its pumps upstream where a fresh water supply could be insured, at all times, it would have been more satisfactory than a suit over water rights.

The suit affected water users for 200 miles up the river, the rice growers being affected particularly. The action was tried late last year in the Alameda county court after having been transferred from the Contra Costa courts.

Antioch had contended that the drainage of river waters was allowing salt water to fill the city's feed pipes. It asserted that a continuous flow of 3500 cubic feet a second was needed in order to prevent the city's supply from becoming filled with salt water.

SUIT ALLEGED WATER CONTAMINATION.

The Antioch water suit has been pending for many months, and the controversy reached its climax January 2, when a Superior Court decision granted the city of Antioch a temporary injunction against the water-using rice growers and agriculturists on the upper Sacramento river.

This injunction has now been dissolved. The suit grew out of charges that the rice growers of the upper Sacramento valley were using so much water that insufficient was left for proper irrigation in the delta district, and that the water supply of Antioch, taken from the river, was contaminated because of the low level. It was also alleged in the suit that the irrigators had absorbed the whole flow by diversion, leaving brackish water to reach the intake of their pumping plant.

RIGHTS OF GREAT VALUE INVOLVED.

The suit, which involves water rights of great value, was first filed in Contra Costa county, but was transferred to Alameda county on a ruling of Superior Judge R. H. Latham on a motion for a change of venue.

Two weeks of trial the temporary injunction restraining the rice growers from using water in excess of fixed quantities was granted by Judge A. F. St. Sure of Alameda county.

The decision was immediately appealed by the rice growers.

Today's decision brings to an end the biggest water action ever fought in the courts of California. Crop interests in excess of $400,000,000 have been interested in the case, which required the services of more than thirty attorneys.

U.S. Beaten Out of Billion Annually By Tax Dodgers

By L. C. MARTIN, United Press Staff Correspondent. WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Tax dodgers are getting away with more than $1,000,000,000 every year that ought to go into the United States treasury.

That's one reason, treasury officials and members of congress admitted today, why the rest of the American people are called on to bear such heavy tax burdens.

It also is the reason congress proposes certain changes in the tax law, to plug tax leaks through which millions of dollars yearly are lost.

If Uncle Sam could collect every year what he loses because of tax dodgers, he would have to levy $700,000,000 less in taxes on other things, officials agree. These tax dodgers represent the greatest aid to tax dodging by the rich. It is variously estimated that there are from $14,000,000,000 to $20,000,000,000 of them outstanding.

The government can't touch them with its taxing power because of a constitutional limitation on its authority.

Gardner Is Dead Sleuths Believe; Search for Body

Officials Convinced Bandit Fatally Wounded During Break From Prison.

By Associated Press. LEADS WIRE TO TRIBUNE. TACOMA, Wash., Sept. 13.—After more than a week of searching for and watching on McNeil island for Roy Gardner, escaped train robber, a hunt was organized this morning by Dr. Jas. Jento, prison physician, and the underbrush within 500 yards of the prison from which Gardner fled will be searched for the bandit's body.

Dr. Jento is now convinced that Gardner was seriously wounded by bullets from the rifles of guards at the time of his break from freedom. He believes the bandit crawled into the brush and died. Witnesses after Gardner's sensational dash they saw him fall once.

The decision to search for Gardner's body means that the prison authorities do not now place much faith in the reports that he has been seen at night on the island and that he has robbed chicken coops and orchards.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. LEADS WIRE TO TRIBUNE. SEATTLE, Sept. 13.—On the east side of McNeil island, Federal prison guards and special possemen tonight and this morning centered their efforts to find Roy Gardner, the escaped mail bandit.

Excitement followed last night's discovery of a bloody scrap of prison clothing on this part of the island. It was taken as positive evidence that Gardner had not left the island, and that he was wounded, either at the time he escaped or later when pursuers fired at shadowy figures in the dark. Warden Thomas Maloney decided to send reinforcements into the heavy timber to the east.

S. P. SUBMITS NEW SET OF DEPOT PLANS

Sketches and Specifications Call For $50,000 Structure, According to Letter Sent to Rail Board By Counsel

Despite Statement That Plans Are "Filed Under Protest," City Attorney Gray Says Work Will Begin Soon

A new set of plans for the new depot at Fourteenth and Franklin streets was submitted to the State Railroad Commission today by the Southern Pacific Company, according to advice received by City Attorney Leon E. Gray, who will be given a set of the plans tomorrow for the consideration of Oakland city officials.

The new plans, according to William F. Herrin of the Southern Pacific, call for a structure which no contractor will build for anything under $50,000.

When the railroad commission ordered a new building at Fourteenth and Franklin some time ago, the Southern Pacific submitted a set of plans which called for a reprimand from the commission. The latter asserted that these plans submitted for the commission's approval would mean "barely half" of the $50,000 which the Southern Pacific was ordered to prepare plans more suitable to the proposed building. That was in July.

PLANS TENDERED UNDER PROTEST.

In tendering the new plans Attorney Herrin of the Southern Pacific says the plans are "tendered under protest," and "the company does not waive any of its rights in trying to annul the commission's order." He said that the company is not ready to build the structure.

City Attorney Gray says this is "the usual legal phraseology" and contends that the Southern Pacific is about ready to build the structure. "They will have to build," says Gray. "It is simply a matter of bringing them up to it. It has been a long campaign and it is not over yet, but I take little stock in the usual talk about filing the plans under protest, and so forth. The plans are being filed. This fact is significant."

HERRIN'S LETTER TO RAIL COMMISSION.

Herrin's letter to the railroad commission, in which the Southern Pacific's viewpoint is set forth, is as follows: "Referring to the case before the Commission involving the depot facilities at this company at Fourteenth and Franklin streets, Oakland."

"There is herewith handed you under protest and in order to preserve all rights of this company and to avoid any of the penalties, if any, which might apply under the Public Utilities Act and for that purpose only, revised plans and specifications for a new track layout designed to meet with the desire of our architects, after careful study of their estimates, believe that no contractor would bid for the erection of this structure less than $50,000. If your engineers differ with our architects in any particular, we would be glad to have them check over our architects' estimates before reaching any final conclusion.

"In accordance with its suggestion, additional umbrella sheds have been designed and the track layout revised so as to create a minimum interference with the street traffic. It is also noted that the plans include the flooring and wainscoting, interior finish of Siberian oak, and exterior columns.

"In submitting these plans and specifications, this company does not waive any of its rights involved in the suit before the Supreme Court to annul the order made by the commission in the premises, and does not hereby admit that said order of the commission is legal in any particular, nor undertake or agree to comply therewith."

Jobless Men and Women Will Be Auctioned in N. Y.

(By Associated Press) NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Urbaine Ledoux, also known as "Mr. Zero," who auctioned off jobless men on Boston Common, said today he would hold a similar auction next Monday near the New York Public Library, after a parade of the unemployed up Broadway. He said that not only would he put jobless men on the block, strip them to the waist and sell their services to the highest bidder, but that he also would auction off the services of any unemployed women who might apply.

Asked if his methods with women would be the same as with men, he said: "Why, certainly, if necessary," and called attention to the modes of dress of women in Broadway musical comedies and on Fifth avenue.

New World Court Justices Will Be Chosen Tomorrow

John Bassett Moore To Be One of Judges Elected By League Assembly. GENEVA, Sept. 13.—(By The Associated Press).—Many delegates to the assembly of the League of Nations in session here predicted today that John Bassett Moore would be elected judge of the court of international justice by a large majority on Wednesday. It was declared that nearly all the votes from South American countries would be for him, and that he would get the support of Great Britain, Japan, Italy, France, Canada and China.

Austria's request for intervention by the league in her dispute with Hungary over Burgenland, a strip of territory along the frontier of those two countries, will be held in abeyance by the council. It has been reached because the council of ambassadors has already taken steps in the matter.

WATCHFUL WAITING TO BE COUNCIL'S POLICY.

The council, however, declares it will adopt a policy of "watchful waiting" until the dispute is settled. President Van Karnebeek announced that the assembly and council both will begin voting for judges of the court at 10 o'clock Wednesday.

The election of a half dozen judges is expected on the first two or three ballots. The principal powers—Great Britain, France, Italy, Japan and the United States—each will vote for one, and the election of Dr. Roy Barbosa, of Brazil, endorsed by Bolivia, Chile and Venezuela, besides his own country, is also looked for on the first ballot.

The completion of the list of fifteen judges, however, will require protracted balloting, in the opinion of many observers.

By NEWTON C. PARKER, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

GENEVA, Sept. 13.—Acting upon advice from the home government, the League of Nations assembly today issued a statement explaining the previous declaration that it will not discuss the Monroe doctrine as extending to the present dispute with Chile.

"Bolivia does not consider the Monroe doctrine as being incompatible with the League of Nations," said the Bolivian statement.

Prosecutor Says He Will Go Ahead With Case Despite Failure of Inquisitors To Indict Accused Film Star

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—Miss Zey Pyron, who was regarded as one of the prosecution's "star" witnesses in the "Fatty" Arbuckle murder case, but who, last night, when she appeared before the grand jury, changed her account of the drinking party in the St. Francis hotel, at which the film star was shot, explained today for the first time why she did not adhere to her sworn statement of Saturday night.

Her explanation was made to District Attorney Matthew Brady, who had sent for the girl just before the coroner's inquest convened for a second time this morning. Brady was dressed with the witness for several hours and questioned her regarding the testimony which she gave before the grand jury in supposed conflict with her other statements. Before the conference Brady announced that he would allow her to leave the hotel under surveillance all last night.

MISSING WITNESS FOUND BY POLICE.

According to James Blake, disappeared to save his family from publicity. He said her real name was Alice Westphal and that she was a member of a family long prominent in Oakland.

District Attorney Brady, after an hour's talk with her, emerged from the room, but refused to comment on what he had learned from her or to allow her to be questioned.

"I am not through with her questioning," he said.

Following his examination of the witness, Brady made public the explanation he had given to her. According to the district attorney, the witness told Brady the following story:

"Saturday night I made a sworn statement at the police station in which I said I heard, while I was in Arbuckle's room on the afternoon of the party, Miss Virginia Rappe saying: 'Don't do that; you're killing me.' I heard no screaming, and I heard her crying when she was in the room with Arbuckle."

"Afterwards I thought it over and I made up my mind that someone had told me untrue things. I didn't really hear Virginia crying. It was that is why I changed my story. I am going to stick to the last one now and I know to be true."

GIRL, WITH WILL, REPUDIATES WOMAN.

Brady said after the conference that Miss Pyron said she would repudiate her first statement and stick to the second. He said that he had told the grand jury that Miss Westphal was found in Oakland by Detective Griffith Kennedy and was taken to San Francisco to confer with District Attorney Brady.

Brady said after the conference with the witness that she had repudiated her statement regarding the wild orgy in Arbuckle's room to the police Saturday night.

"We did not know," Brady said, "that she was a San Francisco showgirl."

"I have no direct accusations to make. I was present at the party, but I heard no screams. There were double doors between the rooms, and I heard nothing. When I saw Miss Rappe afterwards, her clothing had been removed by other women in the party, and I merely helped put her in the bath tub, heard no screaming and have no knowledge that Arbuckle hurt her."

In her statement Saturday night Miss Pyron was asked by the police to have declared that she saw Arbuckle drag the girl into the room.

OAKLAND MAN TELLS WHERE TO FIND GIRL.

Miss Westphal was found when Francis, manager of the Peerless Electric Company of this city, who resides in Oakland, notified the police of her whereabouts. He said that Miss Westphal, as a friend, applied to him for a place to avoid publicity, and he took her to his home.

District Attorney Brady said he was going to endeavor to determine if Miss Pyron, who is also known as Zey Pyron, had committed perjury in her grand jury testimony last night. This testimony differed widely with statements made to himself and Captain of Detective Matthew Brady said.

The grand jury adjourned at an early hour this morning without action on the indictment against Arbuckle charging murder sought by the district attorney.

Brady, in a strongly worded statement, declared that "I am not going to allow a woman to give him further time to present additional evidence. The long session of the inquisitorial body beginning early last evening was requiring early restoration. Arbuckle himself was called before the grand jury and refused to testify."

CLERGYMAN ASKS MEMORY OF GIRL BE NOT SLURRED

Rev. J. T. Gordon Says Name Of Actress Should Be Respected By All.

By FRED BLUM,
Special Correspondent International News Service.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—
Apart from the whispering group of people with whom the Arbuckle matter is paramount here today is the Rev. James T. Gordon of the First Congregational church.

When Virginia Rappe was breathing her last they sent for him to give comfort and prayer to the dying girl. Too late to guide the agonized soul into more peaceful surrender, Dr.
Gordon made a silent prayer for the dead. From his lips today came these words:

"I hope that nothing resultant to this fearful tragedy will happen in any legal contest which will shame or dishonor the memory of the dead girl. This is the kindest consideration that can be given. Her lips are closed in death, and her character should not be slurried or slandered or muzzled, no matter what legal considerations are to be obtained.

"As for Roscoe Arbuckle: Anyone—every man in his hour of excitement—is entitled to a chance to make himself innocent. Or at least represent to the community such extenuating circumstances as can have happened in connection with the tragedy."

SORRY HE WAS LATE.

"To the public Rev. Gordon had this to say:

"We should not embarrass the district attorney or chief of police by a pre-trial over-discussion of the crime of our citizenry. It is for the courts with their trained men to elucidate the truth and place the guilt.
"And it is not too much to say that whether this case proves itself one of extreme dissipation or not everyone is aware of the fact that in every city in the country such scenes are transpiring every night in the week and often end in tragedies as disastrous and sad.

"If I had seen the girl in time, and I am sorry indeed that I did not, I should not, it would have been to try and convey to her thoughts of love and peace, to put the spirit of forgiveness in her soul to give her prayer during those harrowing last minutes."

NO WOMEN ATTEND.

"Points on sentiment rear up in startling manner. When Arbuckle was arraigned not a single woman spectator could be seen in the surrounding crowd of men. Roscoe Arbuckle sat quietly through the proceedings but it could be observed, on closer notice, how the veins strained and beat at the temples, how stiff and tense and rigid a face he had fixed upon himself.

"Flowing through the corridors of the hall of justice, where the case is being handled, dramatic developments such as these come to light and are discussed.

"Joyce Clarke, confidante of Zey Pryvon, was seen at the hall today, pale beneath layers of paint and trembling in sobs and sating in her
and are discussed.

"When Mrs. Sidi Wirt Sprackels came to answer the summons of District Attorney Brady today she came alone. Calm and demure in her widow's weeds, she told a straightforward story, says the District Attorney and others who questioned her.

"Al Semnecher, who brought Vir-convicted that undue influence and pressure of a sinister character has been brought to bear."

He declared "it has always been easy to convict a poor man."

TESTIMONY OF GIRL CHANGED, BRADY SAYS.

"He alleged that Miss Zey Pryvon, late entertainer, and counted as one of the chief witnesses against Arbuckle, had told one story in her affidavit to the police and when called before the grand jury had "changed her testimony."

"We have sent Miss Pryvon home under surveillance," he declared.

In addition to the alleged incident of Miss Pryvon's testimony, according to Brady, Miss Alice Blake, who stood probably next to Mrs. Bambina Maude Delmont and Mrs. Jean Jameson, nurse, as the state's chief witness, "has mysteriously disappeared from her home in Berkeley."

"In spite of these efforts to thwart the ends of justice the investigation will proceed and no effort will be spared to bring the guilty ones to their just deserts," said Brady.

"While the wealth and influence are brought to the bar of justice every sinister and corrupt practice is used in an effort to free the accused. It is always easy to convict a poor man. The wealthy multitude are the ones who find means of using their wealth to their advantage."

REPEATED FIRST STORY
MANY TIMES, HE SAYS.

"Wealth and influence should not count in favor of a defendant, neither should they count against him.
This case should be handled just as the cases of the other gangsters are handled. The Pryvon woman made a statement in the presence of Captain of Detectives
Duncan Matheson, Assistant District Attorney Milton U'ren and George Duffy. She repeated this statement time and again. Tonight before the grand jury she changed her testimony."

Brady is going right ahead with the prosecution. The coroner's jury was called to meet at 10 a. m. to hear the testimony of Mrs. Delmont, who charges Arbuckle with the assault on Miss Rappe during a "wild party" in his hotel suite and inflicted injuries from which she died.

In spite of the delay in securing a grand jury indictment, the murder complaint against Arbuckle—sworn to by Mrs. Delmont—still stands and Arbuckle can be brought to trial on it, even if the grand jury refuses to return an indictment.

By advice of his counsel, the famous movie comedian flatly refused to utter a word when called before the jury. He was in the grand jury room only two minutes.

Afterward, he ran, a gauntlet of blinding flashlights, eliciting cameras and newspapermen who walked along beside him, asking questions, back to his cell in "Folgers Row."

District Attorney Matthew Brady started a corps of detectives out this morning looking for "further evidence."

Virginia Rappe and her friend up to San Francisco "for a little trip" and the charges later resulted in the actress's death, paced the corridors back and forth, while the inquest was being held.

"We were all friends and we came on a party, Virginia I knew and she was my friend and we were pals.
There was another woman with us."
Edgely, a telephone agent, sent by Henry Lehman, fiancé of the deceased, just before her death, in which he urged his sweetheart to have hope and to recover, went to the last words of the dying girl to Mrs. Sprackels were passed about:
"Oh, to think I have led a quiet life and to think I should get into such a party."

'I'M HOME HERE,' SAYS ARBUCKLE IN ROGUES' GALLERY

Movie Actor Essays Smile As He Is Photographed For Identification.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—
"Never mind the instructions.
Put me in front of a camera and I know what to do. I'm right at home here. Tell me when you're ready to shoot and I'll pose for the genuine Arbuckle without any frills."

This was the remark made by Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle, No. 32,052, in front of a camera—a different sort of a camera than he is used to posing before—to have his picture taken for the rogues' gallery in the hall of justice yesterday.

Fatty tried to smile and appear cheerful—in fact, he did produce a sort of smile, but it was a long way from the broad, good-natured grin formerly popular on the silver screen.

BERTILLON NUMBERS.

When "Fatty" entered the Bertil-lon department he was escorted to a stool. First they placed around his neck a sort of garland on which was strung the white porcelain numbers
"12,352." The numbers came directly over his chest.

"Now, then, we are ready," said George Blum, photographer for the police department.

A front pose and a side view of Arbuckle were taken by the police.
They will be sent all over the country to other police departments, along with his Bertillon measurements and his finger prints.

To reach the Bertillon department of the city prison it is necessary to climb a circular staircase of eighty steps. Other men have had to pant before they got to the top. Arbuckle made them without any extraordinary respiration.

ROGUES' GALLERY TAB.

The Bertillon card shows that he has brown hair and blue eyes. He has a blotch scar at the root of his nose and a scar on the ring finger.
"Deep dimples in the chin," reads the measurements. Also "ruddy of complexion." He is classified as "2A-16-174." This classification will be

Woman Witness Tells Why She Is Actor's Nemesis

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—
Friendship that ripened almost over night and through the tense hours of the days following the tragedy, took on the nature of an immacy of years, caused Mrs. Bam-bina Maude Delmont, accuser of Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle, to dedicate herself and her strength to see that justice was done to her dead friend, Miss Virginia Rappe, she said today.

Mrs. Delmont, a frail, dark woman, with lines of sorrow round the drooping corners of her mouth, and flecks of white in her black hair, had known Miss Rappe but a few days on the afternoon of the fran-ciful party at the Hotel St. Francis.

"But friendship cannot be reckoned by the clock," Mrs. Delmont said. "The moment I met Virginia I felt there was a real bond between us. We were together every minute almost after we met, and it seems to us now as though I'd always known and loved her."

It was then she became the nem-esis of Roscoe Arbuckle.

sent all over the country. Through it and the finger prints he will be able to be identified anywhere, the police claim.

According to the police, the one unusual thing about his measurements was this: He has an extraordinarily long head. This is said to be a mark of intellectuality. The width of his head is normal, but from back to front it registers more than "20," which, according to the scale, is unusual. A stretch of "19 3/4" is said to be above normal for this dimension.

FILMS ELIMINATED.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 13.—That the motion picture theater owners' association of Southern California believes that "it is to the best interests of all concerned that Arbuckle's pictures be eliminated for the time being" was a statement attributed to day to Glenn Harper, secretary of the association.

PRODUCER SCORES 'NOISY MINORITY' IN FILM INDUSTRY

Great Army of Well-Behaved Movie Workers Resents Scandal, He Says.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 13 (By the United Press).—War was declared today on "a small but noisy minority" of the motion picture colony which "drives high speed motor cars to high speed drinking places" and "supplies material for gossip and scandal reflecting on the great army of well-behaved, honest, sincere, generous, kindly people."

Ben B. Hampton, former magazine publisher, now producing motion picture plays, was the spokesman for the reform element in the movie industry.

Hampton, confined to his bed,
penned a statement.

"I don't care to discuss the case," was the refrain sung everywhere. The business community joined in. Even press agents, for the first time since the memory of man runneth, refused to talk for publication.

MUST CHANGE HABITS.

"The minority must change its habits or seek new fields of employment."

"The picture colony will take advantage of this terrible tragedy to clean house and it will clean house thoroughly in order to protect its own families from the stigma brought on all by the acts of a few members."

"There is no question as to this statement being representative of the thought of 90 per cent of the players and producers today."

Hampton appealed for fairness toward the sober-minded majority of the picture world, and concluded:

"During the present year the greatest reform since the abolition of saloons has taken place in motion pictures. Doubtful pictures have been driven from the screen by acts of producers, players and directors themselves.

"The industry has cleaned house of doubtful pictures.

"It will clean its house of doubtful personalities."

DEAD GIRL'S LAST WORDS REPEATED AT RAPPE INQUEST

Mrs. Delmont Tells of Actress' Charges Against Arbuckle in Hotel Room.

once, "Sometimes people go to sleep and just say 'yes,'" Mrs. Delmont replied, "for I had a little hypodermic before I came here and I am all right."

Adjournment of the morning session was taken at 12:25 p. m. to resume at 1:30 this afternoon. The testimony of five physicians and surgeons has already been taken by Coroner Leland. All attended Miss Rappe at some stage of her illness or were present at the autopsy after death.

PUT ON SHERMAN'S PAJAMAS, SHE SAYS.
She said that after Arbuckle and Miss Rappe went into the room the others in the party danced, and drank, after sending for a phonograph. She said that she got very warm while dancing and wanted to take off her dress. She told Sherman, she testified, and he told her to go into his room and put on a pair of his pajamas.

Mrs. Delmont went into Sherman's room, she told the jury, and disrobed, putting on a pair of his pajamas. She came back into the room where the rest of the party was and asked where Virginia and Arbuckle were. She was told that they were still in the room, and became worried. She knocked on the door and got no response. A few minutes later she heard Miss Rappe scream, she said.

Three important medical points were raised in her testimony:

1. Could the internal injury which caused peritonitis and death have come from natural cause.

2. Would it have been possible to have resulted from lack of proper medical treatment.

3. Did the nature of the injury itself suggest external violence.

All of the physicians who attended Miss Rappe agreed that their diagnosis of her case had been acute alcoholism. However, Dr. M. T. Tunwell, who had charge of the case, revealed that it was his dissatisfaction with this diagnosis that led to the autopsy. He declared that at no time had there been a suggestion of violence to him which would have led him to seek for internal injuries.

Dr. William Ophuls, autopsy surgeon, revealed that the internal injury suffered by Miss Rappe is one of the rarest in medical knowledge. He gave as his opinion that such an injury could only come from some form of external violence.

"Just a Big Boy," Housekeeper Says

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 13.—Katherine Fitzgerald, long time friend and beautiful young housekeeper of Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle, declared today that the parties held from time to time in the film star's residence here were, without exception, moderate and restrained.

"Roscoe is just a big, good-natured boy," she said, with a slight catch in her voice. "Really, you know, he's never grown up, and I don't think he ever will."

HE IS INNOCENT; DO NOT CONDEMN, ATTORNEYS PLEAD

Arbuckle's Lawyers Urge People Against Forming Hasty Judgment.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—The defense attorneys for Roscoe Arbuckle have given out this statement in his behalf:

"With a complete knowledge of all the facts, know he is innocent. The patrons of the silent drama, having a knowledge of the smile and the heart of the famous 'Fatty' Arbuckle, will not believe he is guilty of the charges made against him until proven in a court of justice."

The whirlwind and typhoon of unjust criticism is now on; truth will dispel the clouds of falsehood. Truth is mighty and will prevail, and the courts of this land will sustain the basic principles of the Anglo-Saxon ideal that the presumption of innocence prevails until the same has been disproved beyond a reasonable doubt.

With an abiding confidence that the Christian charity of the civilized world will be manifested in this case, we appeal to the public to withhold any judgment until the courts have determined the guilt or innocence of our client. We ask the public to suspend judgment until such time as a jury shall determine his guilt or innocence.

With a full knowledge of our obligations as attorneys, we insist that Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle is innocent of all charges made against him in connection with the death of Miss Virginia Rappe, and the court of California will sustain our confidence in his innocence.

To our countrymen and to his admirers we positively declare that the charges made against him are false and the same will be established in due time in the courts of justice of California.

Blas and prejudice cannot prevail. We have an abiding faith in rectitude, honesty and the integrity of the constitution of the State of California, the courts of justice and its executive officers.

CHARLES BRENNAN,
MILTON COHEN.

School Board Asks Arbuckle Films Ban

As a result of the scandal involving Roscoe ("Fatty") Arbuckle the superintendent of schools was requested last night by the board of education to suggest to the city council that no more Arbuckle films be shown in Oakland.

The matter was brought up by Director George Ormsby, who suggested that some means be taken for stopping Arbuckle shows in Oakland.

"Why not ignore it?" suggested Commissioner Edwards.

"It is best not to ignore that sort of thing," said Mrs. Ormsby. Chairman Boyle requested Superintendent Fred M. Hunter to write a letter to the city council.

"I think that under the circumstances the showing of Arbuckle pictures would be a bad thing for citizens, and especially the children of Oakland under our care," said Mrs. Ormsby.

Arbuckle's Auto Is Used by Attorneys

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—"Fatty" Arbuckle's $15,000 automobile, which he drove from Los Angeles to San Francisco, is now being used by his attorneys to carry them from their headquarters at the Palace Hotel to the Hall of Justice.

The big cream-colored touring car is a source of constant attention as it whizzes through the streets or stands parked out in front of the Hall of Justice. Throngs of persons who cannot gain entrance to the inquest or court proceedings content themselves with gathering about the big automobile and examining it closely.

As it is seen driving down the streets, persons stop and point. "There goes Arbuckle's car," they say.

Accused Actor Was Once Theater Barker

LONG BEACH, Calif., Sept. 13.—Roscoe Arbuckle in 1908 was a theater barker at the local center on the amusement pier at the beach here. He graduated into a performer, singing, illustrating songs, doing break-neck falls and comical stunts and was aided by a noisy chorus and the manager noticing a romance growing between Minta Durfee, a chorus girl, and Arbuckle, arranged for a stage wedding August 5, 1908, advertised well in advance.

The theater changed hands shortly afterward and Arbuckle and his wife

Cellmate Awakens Arbuckle Early

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle arose early today at the urgent request of Albert Martin, his cell mate, and repeated yesterday's routine of dressing carefully and then sending out for breakfast for himself and Martin. He had slept soundly throughout the night, excepting once when he was awakened to appear for a few minutes before the grand jury, Martin said.

When informed that the jury had not yet appeared more cheerful than at any other time during his imprisonment and immediately asked Martin what he wanted for breakfast. "I'll take ham and eggs, 'Fatty,' if it's all the same to you," responded his cell mate.

Nicknamed 'Fatty' When 6 Years Old

SANTA ANA, Calif., Sept. 12.—Roscoe Arbuckle, held in San Francisco on the charge of murder in connection with the death of Miss Virginia Rappe, gained the nickname of "Fatty" when he started to school here at the age of 6 years, according to former schoolmates.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 12.—Fred Fishbach and Lowell Sherman, said to have been members of the party entertained by Roscoe Arbuckle in San Francisco the day Virginia Rappe was alleged to have received injuries resulting in her death, made sworn statements here last night to W. C. Doran, chief deputy district attorney; Deputy Raymond I. Turney and Charles A. Jones, chief of police.

TOMORROW WILL BE 'DOLLAR DAY'; CROWDS EXPECTED

Police Plan Extra Details to Care for Traffic in the Business District

Dollar Day!
An epoch in the life of every housewife will be ushered formally into Oakland history early tomorrow morning and will be symbolized by the offering of thousands of bargains for the price of the day's name—one dollar.

These bargains, including almost every imaginable article, will be placed on sale by the merchants throughout the city. More than ten thousand shoppers and persons looking for a "good buy" is expected, will flood the downtown business district of the city from early morning until the stores close in the afternoon.

These crowds will not only consist of residents of the immediate bay region, but from a good many points in the state as well. The San Francisco and Sacramento railroad has ordered that a special transportation rate be put in effect tomorrow for all persons residing between Oakland and Pittsburg who wish to come to the city and take advantage of the bargains offered, and return.

Ticket offices all along the line between the two points reported late planning on making the trip. Favorable weather indications for the annual fall Dollar Day—tomorrow—were given late this afternoon by the weather man, who predicted cool and clear weather. The cool weather will be exceptionally opportune both for the shoppers and the hundreds of clerks who will have to work extra hard and overtime.

Police protection has been promised by Police Chief James T. Drew and extra traffic squads will be on duty.

On the pages of tonight's TRIBUNE you will find the various bargains which will be offered.

Read The TRIBUNE'S Dollar Day advertisements.

Decide what you want to get. Be at the stores early. And you'll go home with what you want.

ASK THE TRIBUNE
Bureau
Information

A Biblical question came in to the Information Bureau of The TRIBUNE today. A reader writes as follows:

"Kindly inform me where the Bible states a disciple struck Jesus, and what was his name."
There is no record in the Bible of a disciple having struck Jesus. In Mark, Chapter 14, Verse 65, when Christ is delivered to the soldiers, it states that "the officers received him with blows of their hands." In another account of the same incident it tells that a follower of Jesus drew his sword and smote off the ear of the man who had struck the Savior. Peter's denial followed a short time later.

Here is another query that came in today:

"Please give figures showing the size of the clock on the Ferry tower in San Francisco."
The diameter of the inner dial is 15 feet. The diameter of the outer dial is 22 feet. The length of the hour hand is 8 feet and the length of the minute hand is 12 feet.

The TRIBUNE Information Bureau will answer all questions of a general nature except school or legal problems, debates, or cases of personal names and queries as to the time of day.

The Bureau is open every day, except Sunday, from 8 a. m. to 4 p. m. If answers are desired by mail, stamps must be enclosed. Quickest results can be obtained by telephoning to the Bureau. If you have any problems of a general nature, please ask The TRIBUNE Information Bureau, Lakeside 6000.

Woman Presides At Massachusetts Booth

HAVERHILL, Mass., Sept. 13. — A woman presides over one of the voting precincts in this city at today's special primary election. This is regarded by officials as the first instance of a woman serving as warden at an election in Massachusetts.

The pioneer woman warden, Mrs. Ida A. T. Stevens, has previously officiated several times at the polls as an inspector. She will receive the usual compensation of $5 for her services, which may be much larger, as the warden must remain until all votes are counted and the election is over.

The primary is being held to nominate a successor to Congressman Wilfred W. Lufkin, appointed collector of the port of Boston.

Wheel Chairs for Invalids At Zoo

CHICAGO, Sept. 13. — Chicago's crippled children may ride right up to the cages in Lincoln Park zoo and inspect the animals, as the zoo has provided a number of wheel chairs for the use of the crippled.

The park commissioners recently purchased six wheel chairs and stationed them at the park entrance for the free use of crippled visitors. And for those who cannot reach the park, the commissioners have provided automobiles, which will call at a selected list of homes daily.

Free peanuts and popcorn and a boat ride in the lake are also provided for the crippled by the board.

Historic Building
Soon to Be Razed

WINCHESTER, Va., Sept. 13. — The building which was made a Master Mason during the Civil War while a major in an Ohio regiment is soon to be torn down to make way for a modern business building. It is a low, two-story structure in the heart of the retail district here.

NEW DIVORCE LAWS
ANGOLA, Sept. 13. — New divorce laws is one of the reforms proposed by the Nationalists. Under the present laws, it is a husband who must prove to his wife, or the wife to her husband, on three different occasions, "I divorce thee," the divorce is legal and effective.

CONGRESS MAY BAR ALLENTY, CRITICS WARNED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—A warning that continued agitation and opposition to the present 3 per cent immigration law might induce Congress to shut off immigration altogether was sounded today by Secretary of Labor Davis.

"The organized attempt to discredit the 3 per cent law will have the effect of still further tightening this law," he said, "and it may eventually induce Congress to restrict all immigration."

If you will go the contrary way you must go over it twice.

On inspection, she found her finger was bleeding. Looking around the room, she noticed a man crouching in a corner. Though startled, Mrs. Basso did not scream, but calmly commanded the man to leave the room, whereupon he walked towards her, fanfully draped in a long coat. She made a lunge at him, whereupon he escaped through the door.

Mrs. Basso rubbed the alarm and it was found that the burglar had decamped with diamond earrings worth $800, and $24 in cash.

L. A. MAGNATE TO BUILD PIPE LINE ACROSS MEXICO

Concession Granted For An Oil Route From Gulf of Mexico To Pacific Port.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS LEAFED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 13.—Clay T. Yerby of Los Angeles, Calif., has been granted a concession to construct an oil pipe line from Puerto Mexico, on the gulf of Mexico, to Salina Cruz, on the shore of the Pacific. Announcement that this concession had been granted was made here last night by J. Flynn, representative in Mexico City of Yerby. It was said the pipe line would follow the Tehuantepec railroad and the concession gave Yerby the right to use federal lands, terminals and port facilities.

Flynn said work would begin at once and would be completed within twenty-six months. It is estimated that the cost of the work will be $10,000,000. By means of the pipe line the time of transporting oil from the east to the west coast of Mexico will be cut down eleven days and the distance covered will be 2300 miles less than through the Panama canal.

STEPHENS ASKED TO PUT STOP TO THEFT ON SHIPS

Lasker Says Losses Hurting Export and Import Business.

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 13.—Urging Governor W. D. Stephens to take immediate steps to stop enormous theft losses occurring in the export and import trade in California ports, A. D. Lasker, chairman of the United States Shipping Board, has sent a letter to the chief executive. Lasker declares that "such losses constitute an alarming burden upon our export business," and are seriously disrupting trade with foreign nations.

Thefts in the export trade have increased from 200 to 1000 per cent, the federal official advises. The letter to the governor is also signed by Frederick R. Schibach, chairman of the sub-committee on marine insurance. Truckmen, longshoremen and lightermen are blamed for the losses by Lasker.

Governor Stephens announced that he will immediately instruct the San Francisco harbor commission, the Los Angeles harbor board and other California port officials to make every effort to break up the band of waterfront thieves and to bring them to justice.

LETTER TO GOVERNOR. A portion of the letter to the governor follows: "The United States Shipping Board and the sub-committee on marine insurance of the commerce and marine and fisheries committee of the House of Representatives, desire to call your attention to the appalling theft and pilferage losses occurring in our export and import trade."

"Underwriters and shippers, representing fully 90 per cent of the two interests in the United States, testified before the commission during its recent investigation on the subject that the losses have increased 300 to 1000 per cent within the past three years, depending upon the class of commodities under consideration."

"Marine insurance rates for the type hazard, where obtainable at all, are now practically prohibitive. Many underwriters are declining to assume the risk at all, and nearly all other instances the shipper is obliged to assume 25 per cent of all losses himself. Despite the high rates, practically all underwriters are experiencing a heavy loss from this type of business."

THEFTS IN U. S. PORTS.

"An analysis of the problem shows that a very substantial portion of the theft and pilferage losses in our foreign trade occurs at our American ports. Some of the loss, it is true, occurs on board the vessel, or is caused by stealing from, or failing to pack into, the containers, the goods desired in the bill of lading."

"But underwriters, shippers and ship operators agreed that much of the pilferage is perpetrated by truckmen handling packages between terminals; by longshoremen and lightermen during the handling incident to stowing a shipboard, including careless handling for the express purpose of facilitating theft, and by persons who obtain access to piers or stations while the goods are waiting transportation."

County Would Turn Roads Over To Ford

HART, Mich., Sept. 13.—Henry Ford will run the railroad running through Hart if the citizens of this place and vicinity have their way about it.

A petition, signed by 400 fruit growers, has been forwarded to President Harding asking that the railroads of Hart county be turned over to the Detroit automobile manufacturer. The petition was circulated by fruit growers dissatisfied with present freight rates.

After pointing out the 20 per cent reduction in rates on Ford's Detroit, Toledo and Ironport Railroad recently, the petition states the belief of the petitioners that Ford would operate the roads for the benefit of all and not for personal gain.

Rattlers in Bed; Jumps Out Window

ST. PETERSBURG, Florida, Sept. 13.—When John Langdon, a local fruit farmer, turned down the covers to go to bed last night after returning from a week's stay with a friend, he found a nest of rattlesnakes between the sheets. Frightened by the hisses of the snakes, Langdon jumped through the window and fell into a water barrel. He broke his arm in the fall and nearly drowned before he could get out of the water. Neighbors killed the snakes.

SILVER TEA FOR VASSAR FUND. The home of Mrs. James Telford Hamilton in Claremont was the scene of a silver tea this afternoon when scores interested in the Vassar endowment fund gathered. An interesting program was a feature of the tea and many prospective Vassar students as well as Alumnae called. Pantomimes were presented by Mrs. Vernon Smith and others who contributed to the afternoon's pleasure were Miss Mary Katherine Glen and Mrs. John Chandler.

Mrs. Hamilton and her daughter Miss Vera Hamilton will leave September 21 for Pittsburg, their former home, to remain for several months.

N. Y. SCHOOLS OPEN; 900,000 PUPILS ATTEND

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Opening of New York's public schools yesterday sent 900,000 children from the streets and playgrounds to the classrooms. This army of youngsters, it massed together, would form a municipality that would equal in population the fifth largest city in the United States. There are 325 schools in the five boroughs of Greater New York.

A total of more than 100,000 pupils will be forced to attend school this year. It was estimated, owing to the lack of seats, to accommodate them. It was estimated that a shortage of 700 teachers exists.

School Attendance To Break Records

SAN JOSE, Sept. 13.—Registration for the fall semester opened at the local high school yesterday, a large number of first term students filling their entrance blanks. Indications are, according to Principal R. E. Leiland, that the registration this year will break all previous records for attendance at the school.

With new additions, and improvements of many kinds, the San Jose high school opens the new term with what has been pointed out by many educators as the finest high school plant west of Chicago.

Recall of Redding City Trustees Fails

REDDING, Sept. 13.—Recall of three city trustees, alleged to have denied their support to enforcement of the city's prohibition ordinance, failed at an election yesterday when S. N. Morton, Camille Brouillard and Thomas Shadwell were returned to office by a vote said to have been about three to one over their opponents. Morton is chairman of the board.

Leslie T. Alward, William Prosser and Edwin Moore, each formerly a city trustee, opposed the incumbents and ran on what they termed a "law enforcement" ticket.

Water Power Grabs By Cities Opposed

A resolution questioning the rights of municipalities to appropriate water power was passed at a meeting yesterday by the Electric Club of Oakland, an organization composed of men engaged in the electrical industry. The resolution urges that municipalities operated utilities be placed under control of the State Railroad Commission. The resolution also points to the recent acquisition by the city of Los Angeles of a power unit from the Southern Sierra Power company. The opposition to such a procedure was claimed to be based on a desire to preserve the rights of rural communities.

Man With Fractured Skull Puzzles Police

John Cox is at the Emergency hospital suffering from a basal fracture of the skull. He was found in the gutter at Sixth and Alice streets by Matt Wallace of the Overton hotel, San Francisco. He was taken to his home at 227 Fourth street by Wallace and then removed to the hospital. He told Police Inspectors Joe Enright and William Haldaman that he was struck by an automobile truck which did not stop after knocking him down. Cox is being held at the hospital for investigation because the police do not believe his story. Both tell of the intricacies of the newspaper business.

Gamblers Are Held Up By Masked Bandits

RENO, Nev., Sept. 13.—Sheriffs, constables and deputies are searching in the hills for two bandits who held up the Owl Club at Gold Hill on the Comstock Saturday night. Sixteen men in the gaming rooms were lined up by the masked men and all the money on the card tables and in the safe was taken, said to be $1600. Officers declare it is the first hold-up in Virginia City for forty years.

CHINESE MASSES
DISTRUST LEADERS

KARUIZAWA, Japan, Sept. 13.—Whatever may be the attitude of leading officials regarding a settlement of the Shantung question prior to the Washington conference, the masses of the Chinese people, especially the liberal element, is justly opposed to such a settlement, according to Rev. Rowland M. Cross of Peking, who is now in Karuzawa.

The liberal following in China, which includes the students and the business element, distrusts Japan's motives today, the Rev. Mr. Cross said. "They do not think that Japan even wants to negotiate for the return of Shantung—certainly they do not think that Japan ever intends to return Shantung unless compelled to do so by force."

Even if Japan were willing, they are against a settlement now, because their distrust of the officials of the Chinese government is practically as great as their distrust of Japan. They know that an agreement between these officials and Japan would be such that the Chinese people would not benefit from it, for Japan and the corrupt officials would leave no benefits for the people, they claim.

There is one exception to that—Dr. Yen, the new minister of foreign affairs in Peking, who I think, is trying to do the right thing. At least he has the confidence of the students whom I came in contact with, and they do not think that he will consent to a Shantung settlement until he is sure that China will get back the entire concession originally stolen from her by Germany and that China will be able to hold it from grafting individuals."

The Rev. Mr. Cross, who has been working among the student class in Peking for the last four years, has been in Karuzawa attending the annual meeting of the American Board as a fraternal delegate from China. The object of his visit is to work out a better understanding between the Chinese and Japanese which may lead eventually to better international relations.

Population of Bahama Islands Falling Off

NASSAU, Bahamas, Sept. 13.—The Bahama Islands, the British colony lying off the Atlantic coast, show a decrease in population during the last ten years, principally on account of emigration to Florida. This is the first decline in numbers in the recorded history of the colony.

The census just announced places the population at 55,544 which marks a decrease of 2913 or 5.2 per cent since 1911. Demand for labor in the United States is regarded as the cause.

Watlings Island, where Columbus is believed to have first set foot on the New World, showed an increase in population. Its total was 686 people or 69 more than ten years ago.

The Bimini Islands where much labor was sent from the United States when it went dry, has a population of 610 people, an increase of 138 in the ten years.

Infant mortality of Egypt reaches 90 per cent among the natives.

FARMERS WILL BURN NO MORE CORN FOR FUEL

CHICAGO, Sept. 13. — Farmers who raise corn are going to burn none of it for fuel this winter because of low prices. That is the judgment of agricultural authorities in big corn raising states.

"I never burned any corn ever heard of anybody burning any corn," said D. O. Thompson, secretary of the Illinois Agricultural Association. "If corn somebody burned out it could be done and jumped to the idea that it was."

"There will certainly be not much if any of it done in Illinois. We are close to the coal fields and our furnaces are better fitted for coal."

From Iowa comes this word from Charles D. Reed, director of the state crop and weather service: "The idea that Iowa farmers will burn corn this winter is based on the assumption that we are going to have 30-cent corn. Even at that price the margin would not be great enough to warrant burning corn. Farmers will haul their corn to market and exchange it for coal, because corn makes such very poor fuel."

J. C. Mohler, secretary of the Kansas state board of agriculture, said Kansas farmers will feed their corn to livestock, not put it in the stove.

Former Saloon Man Champion Dry Agent

TAMPA, Fla., Sept. 13. — Formerly proprietor of a saloon here, U. S. Deputy Marshal John E. Cox is today wearing a solid gold badge presented him by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, the Tampa Woman's Club and the general secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

Cox's vigilance in running down bootleggers, liquor smugglers and moonshiners is what brought him the medal. He is said here to have made more arrests in the last two years than any federal deputy in the South and last year to have run second in the country.

Raiding the former saloonkeeper has led in the past 18 months have captured more than $100,000 worth of boats, automobiles and other property used by prohibition law violators and moonshiners.

Cox is a native of Breathitt county, Kentucky, and is noted as a dead shot.

TESTIMONY OF WOMAN WANTED BY HIGHTOWER

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—Notice of intention to apply for a commission to examine witnesses for William Hightower, charged with the murder of Father Patrick E. Hefflin of Colma, was given at Redwood City yesterday by Attorney J. E. Herron. The testimony of Doris Shirley Putnam is understood to be the principal subject for examination by a commission as demanded by Herron, who states in his affidavit that the Putnam woman is being held under surveillance and is practically a prisoner of the district attorney of San Mateo county.

Pastor Gives Advice To Married Couples

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—A man should continue to court his wife and a woman to charm her husband and then there would be fewer divorces, Rev. William K. Guthrie, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, declares. He adds that husbands should remember birthdays with flowers and candy, just as they did in the days they played "Prince Charming" on Sunday evenings in the front parlor before they were married. Rev. Guthrie blames women for not realizing, in many cases, that it is more important to make the one man they have chosen for a husband happy, than to charm a dozen others who should mean nothing to them.

Beet Plant Is Nine Feet High

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—A beet plant that resembles a skyscraper, blossoms like the rose in the heart of San Francisco. It is 9 feet high and was planted in November, 1919, from seed in a vacant lot next to 262 Natoma street by J. J. Pittory. Photographs have been taken of the huge vegetable and sent to Luther Burbank.

Five Truckloads Of Liquor Are Seized

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—Forty alleged violators of the Volstead act were visited yesterday by federal agents and five truckloads of illicit liquor were seized in one of the largest raids yet undertaken. E. Forest Mitchell, federal prohibition director, had charge of the raids.

Husband, Children Cut Off By Woman

The will of Mrs. Mary Louise Lloyd, who died in her Berkeley home, September 3, was filed for probate with County Clerk George E. Gross today.

Mrs. Lloyd's husband, Richard Lloyd, attorney formerly a deputy in the office of County Assessor J. H. Clay and recently a candidate for the assembly, was cut off with nothing in the will, while all but one of ten children are left $1 each. The other, a son, Robert Emmet Lloyd, is left the balance of the estate, which is stated to be worth $2800.

Men Must Return Before Rehearing

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—Members of the Construction Employers were planning today to replace all union men, who have not returned to work by Thursday morning with non-union workmen. This followed the action of Judge K. M. Landis, arbiter, yesterday in cancelling a date for a rehearing of matters in connection with the wage award he announced last week. The date, he announced, would not be fixed until the workers were back on the job.

India Mob Attacks Police, Burns Records

CALCUTTA, British India, Sept. 13.—A mob of one thousand armed men from Munshighat went to the police station in Paghut yesterday and attempted to kill a sub-inspector and seven constables. After firing shots into the air, the sub-inspector and constables escaped to Ottaram. The mob later looted the registrar's office and set fire to the records. Plunder appears to have been the main objective of the mob.

Auto Thieves Beat And Rob Merchant

NEEDLES, Sept. 13.—Two men in an automobile stolen from Needles stopped at Denby, on the desert, 60 miles west of here, and knocking unconscious W. H. Foster, a storekeeper, there, with a blow on the head with a wrench, robbed him of fifty dollars. Foster, according to doctors, was not expected to live. The stolen machine was found two miles from the scene of the robbery, and the men were believed to have escaped on a freight train.

King Henry VIII. was married when 12 years old.

Flyer Swims Mile, Gets Aid For Seven

GROTON, N. Y., Sept. 13.—Seven persons, three of them women and two children, were rescued from a wrecked seaplane last night after W. H. Manners, pilot of the plane, and a mechanic named Baldwin had swam more than a mile in the Hudson river and were picked up by a launch which answered the shouts and cries for help.

The plane developed engine trouble and crashed to the water, breaking one of the pontoons and throwing the occupants about.

60,000 RAILMEN CALL SESSION TO FIGHT WAGE CUT

Monster Meeting Is Scheduled For Chicago On Sunday
To Consider Differences.

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—Sixty thousand railroad employees will meet here Sunday to consider the present wage difficulties with the roads. The announcement of the meeting was made today by Bert M. Jewell, president of the railroad department of the American Federation of Labor.

Jewell, who is to address the membership, would not reveal the nature of his speech.

The meeting was called in view of the fact that shop employees all over the country have voted overwhelmingly against acceptance of the wage cut that went into effect July 1.

Youth Robs Cafe, But Spares Patrons

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—A youth of not more than 15 years, armed, succeeded in holding up a half-dozen early morning breakfasters at the City Hall grill, 1045 Market street, at 5 a. m. today. He did not rob them however. The men at the tables were ordered to keep quiet by the robber, who helped himself to $3 from the till, backed out and escaped.

CHICAGO WOMAN BEGGAR DIES; $100,000 FOUND

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—"French Sal," 84 years old, who died yesterday in a dreary little attic room, was found today to have securities declared to aggregate $100,000 hidden in her room. For years she begged from the well-to-do near her home and dispensed philanthropy to the poor. Her identity is not known.

U. C. Leader Quotes Bryce At Lecture

While the world has achieved in large measure that liberty and equality which were two of the watchwords of the French revolution, it has failed in the achievement of the third—fraternity. David P. Barrows, president of the University of California, chose this as a significant conclusion in the latest work of the British author and statesman, Viscount James Bryce. Barrows spoke at the opening of the new Elder galleries in San Francisco, discussing Bryce and his work at length. He pointed out that Bryce believes that the menace of war has not passed, because that in spite of all attempts to establish a true brotherhood among nations, the race is still content with the principle of nationality.

The charge was preferred against him by Deputy Sheriff Frank Larkin, who with Deputy Sheriff Mike Joslin, placed Garudenz under arrest.

Mothers to Launch New Year's Work

By EDNA B. RINARD.

Vacation time is over. The crisp September days are a signal to Oakland Federation of Mothers' Clubs that it is full time for the year's activities to be launched and the responsibilities of social service work resumed. With the return of Mrs. Peter J. Krumer, president, from the East, where she was called by the illness of both her parents, announcements summoning officers and representatives from the local clubs to conference have gone forth.

No hour's deliberation will dispose of the large task which the organization has built for itself. An all-day session, when Senator Lester C. Burnett will appear before the members to discuss the housing bill, which became the center of a heated controversy during the last session of the legislature at the club will meet in the auditorium of the Fruitvale school, School and Boston streets.

Tuesday, September 20, has been set for the inaugural meeting. At 10 a. m. members of the executive board will assemble for a half-hour session. Officers and delegates will assemble together at 10:30 a. m. to take up matters which three months' adjournment has piled up. Four o'clock has been conceded the closing hour for the preliminary deliberations.

Constitutions of the federation and the new roster will be distributed at the opening business meeting.

Fruitvale Woman's Club anticipates an interesting session on Thursday, when Senator Lester C. Burnett will appear before the members to discuss the housing bill, which became the center of a heated controversy during the last session of the legislature at the club will meet in the auditorium of the Fruitvale school, School and Boston streets.

Mrs. R. C. Young, president, will preside.

A program of music will be presented by a gifted group, including Mrs. W. L. Kayser, vocal; Mrs. Christian Muller, piano; Miss Clara Decker, and J. W. Wylie, violin.

Routine in monthly meetings will be varied by the women of District No. 1, Alameda County Nurses Association, when they gather tomorrow at 1 p. m. for a fresco picnic luncheon under trees in Mosswood Park. Evening sessions at the Y. W. C. A. have been the custom for September days have lured the professional women out of doors.

An American flag in every classroom is the project which Principal Ewing has presented to the mothers of Emerson school. Inspired by the patriotic appeal, the association already has started plans for a big entertainment to be given September 21, which will be devoted to a flag fund. The date has not yet been decided upon.

Wednesday, September 21, is being celebrated by the association with a large reception in the school auditorium to welcome all mothers of new students, with the hope that they will identify themselves with neighborhood activities on behalf of the school children.

In song and dance and drama California Day will be celebrated tomorrow by the Oakland Club in Ebell clubhouse. Miss Mary Lambert, from whose pen has come a charming California play, which will be featured, will be chairman of program.

Ebell celebrated the inaugural luncheon of the season today when Dr. Aurelia Henry Reinhardt, president of Mills College, shared with Mrs. David Prescott Barrows, Mrs. William L. Davis, Mrs. Frank E. Hinkley, Miss Winifred Bangs, Mrs. B. A. Forrester and Mrs. Louis Cockcroft, the honors of the day. The musical program was contributed by Miss Josephine Holub, violin; Miss Margaret Spruance, bird melodies; Mrs. Eva Gruninger Atkinson, vocal. Miss Matilda Brown was presiding hostess.

"A Woman's Club Year" was the subject for Dr. Reinhardt's address.

The Sigma Phi Sigma Mothers' Club of Berkeley is ready to launch the season's activities. Tomorrow will summon the members, who will offer particular honors to new fraternity mothers, at an interesting session in the fraternity house, 2401 Durant avenue.

Mrs. N. B. Butler, Oakland, is president of the unique group. Associated with her as officers are Mrs. W. J. Fisher, Alameda, first vice-president; Mrs. G. G. Friable, San Francisco, second vice-president; Mrs. C. M. Muller, Berkeley, secretary-treasurer.

INTRIGUING AGAINST CHINA.

It is peculiarly bad taste that a Japanese propaganda bureau in the United States, supported by the Japanese government, should indulge efforts to belittle any of the nations which will be represented at the coming international conference on the limitation of armaments. Yet this is precisely what the East and West News Bureau is guilty of.

This bureau, which has its headquarters in the Woolworth Building, New York City, exists for the alleged purpose of disseminating information concerning Japan. It is directed by Dr. Iyenaga, a valuable Japanese pleader with a western education. Japan is naturally concerned over the prospect that China will be represented at the conference. This is what the New York propaganda bureau of the Japanese government has to say, among other things, on China's plan:

"The Washington Conference on the Limitation of Armament and the Pacific and the Far Eastern Situations will naturally be confronted with many delicate and difficult problems. Not the least of them would be provided by the present situation in China itself. Despite the most sincere admonitions of her best friends and well-wishers, China fails to compose her internal feuds, and lacks self-respect even to the extent of bringing her domestic quarrel before the bar of nations. The Canton Government under Sun Yat Sen is striving hard to secure a claim to be heard at the Conference. As China is the crux of the Pacific problem, the distracted and disunited China would stand as a chief obstacle in the way of the success of the Washington Conference. Small wonder, then, it is reported, that the present state of affairs in the Oriental Republic is causing much worry to the State Department."

One does not have to look far to locate the "best friends and well-wishers" who have given their "sincere admonition" to China to abstain from attendance at the disarmament conference. They are to be found in Japanese official circles. China would hesitate to describe them as friends and well-wishers. She would say they are her enemies who dislike to listen to China's voice regarding Chinese affairs.

Japan's agents to influence American public opinion accuse China of lacking self respect in desiring to bring her troubles before the disarmament conference. They falsely say the State Department is troubled. And then this gem of Japanese logic which invites careful examination:

"As China is the crux of the Pacific problem, the distracted and disunited China would stand as a chief obstacle in the way of the success of the Washington conference."

If China is the crux of the Pacific problem, why, in the name of international morals and common sense, should China be excluded from the discussion of that problem?

It has been the long established policy of the Japanese government to settle all Pacific questions, whether they find root in China or elsewhere, without reference to China's views or without even permitting the Chinese government to know about discussions of the questions until these discussions have been concluded.

In this spirit, the Anglo-Japanese alliance was concluded, as were secret agreements between Russia and Japan concerning Manchuria and the Russo-Chinese boundary. In this spirit, the United States was inveigled, with crude impropriety, into signing two agreements with Japan concerning China, the Root-Takahira agreement of 1905 and the Lansing-Ishii agreement of 1917. China at the request of Japan, was not permitted to know anything about any of these negotiations until the agreements were signed.

Apparently Japan desires to continue this policy at the Harding disarmament conference. Admittedly, China is the crux of the Pacific problem, but the other nations should debate that problem only with Japan! Tokyo still aspires to speak for Peking in international affairs, and still endeavors to translate her aspiration into a condition of international relationship.

But the scheme will not succeed at the Washington conference. President Harding already has invited China to send delegates. China will be heard in the discussions of Pacific questions, as of right she should be heard. In the meantime, the semi-official Japanese news bureau in New York is not adding to the good opinion of the Tokyo government in trying to bring about the exclusion of China from the conference, or in belittling China's integrity of position at that conference.

NO ALIEN POLL TAX.

In an unanimous decision handed down yesterday afternoon the California Supreme Court declared unconstitutional the alien poll tax law adopted by popular vote last November and passed by the California legislature at its last session. The measure was held to be in violation of the Fourteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution and in violation of the treaty of friendship and commerce between the United States and Japan.

This ends an abortive attempt of the State legislature and the Japophobes to impose discriminatory taxation on the alien residents of the State. There was never any doubt in the minds of those who had taken the slightest trouble to acquaint themselves with the law and with the limitation imposed by the federal Constitution and by the treaty-making power of the national government as to what the Supreme Court's decision would be. The act was a plain violation of the Constitution and a plain infringement upon treaties which the federal authority has negotiated with other powers.

Not only was the treaty with Japan infringed, but the treaties with England, France, Italy and all other countries with which treaties have been concluded in which the "most favored nation" clause is included, were violated. The Japanese treaty was stressed in the decision handed down by the court because the action was brought in behalf of a Japanese subject.

The case decided by the court was partly in the nature of a friendly suit to determine the constitutionality of the law imposing the alien poll tax. And it should be noted that the local assessors and tax collectors have generally refrained from compelling the payment of the tax until the case was decided. A minimum of hardship has been worked on aliens, which also means that the minimum of work by county officials will have to be undone.

Prior to the election last November at which the people voted on the proposition to levy a discriminatory tax on all alien residents, THE TRIBUNE pointed out that it was doomed to be a futile effort, certain to be held unconstitutional by the courts, and that it should be voted down. The act should never have been proposed and it would have saved considerable expense if the people had rejected it. It does not reflect credit upon the State when its citizens attempt to exceed their constitutional authority to pass laws in a form so palpable as this was.

CONDITIONS "GOOD."

According to the bulletin for the month of August issued by the California Development Association, California is at this writing in a very favorable economic situation, when compared with the rest of the country. There is general healthfulness in all the industries, after discounting local labor troubles in some districts. While the crops have not been of the bumper character, they have been good and the harvesting is progressing under favorable circumstances. The financial resources are adequate for seasonal financing. Rail rates for commodities originating in the State have been lowered in some instances, bringing advantages to producers who send to Eastern markets.

The composite condition of all crops is reported to be 4.2 percent below the ten-year average at this date. For the entire United States the composite condition of all crops is about 7 percent below the ten-year average. Thus in agriculture the condition is substantially better than the average for the entire country. The large returns from the soil products are now coming in and will continue to do so for the next six months.

Conditions are such that all will be well with the people of this State if unnecessary trouble can be avoided. That would seem to be deserving of the best attention. Up to the present building activities have been about on a par with last year. The one notable exception is Oakland, where the building permits for last month totaled $1,552,600, compared with $672,074 for August, 1920. As the demand for labor on the farms eases up, the State should turn to its new construction jobs. Material available at reasonable prices and freedom from labor tie ups and the next six months should set a new record in structural activities.

At this period of the year, where it is possible to take a fairly informative survey of conditions and ascertain the possible requirements for the winter months, the outlook is normal. It gives average satisfaction.

The Allied Supreme council has been called upon to attend to the latest quarrel between Hungary and Austria, which arises out of the seizure by Hungary of a strip of land awarded to Austria by the treaty of St. Germain. An Hungarian army officer has given an imitation of D'Annunzio at Fiume. The Supreme Council probably will permit itself to be distressed over this small affair for a year or so instead of taking decisive action at once.

NOTES and COMMENT

A man has been convicted of driving an automobile while intoxicated. It is interesting that the judge before whom he was tried should state that this is the first jury conviction for such an offense, though they have been numerous. It is also interesting that the jury in the case should plead for leniency for the prisoner. The inquiry may well be asked what there is about automobile offenses that operates so generally in the direction of leniency.

Some people may see a touch of the elder Theodore Roosevelt in the declaration of the younger Theodore that he is not sure there is anything personal in the belief of his wife that she can drive a mule well. It is a grim humor that would have been characteristic of the elder, at least.

We know that tennis has had a revival and must conclude it is because of the exhilarating exercise it affords and the sport of it, but is the increased vogue of swimming due to similar reasons, or because it affords such undoubted opportunity for the display of the human form? This query may have a natural sequence from the fact that the multitudes of illustrations of swimmers show that they are almost exclusively of the feminine gender.

It is a great satisfaction to see that Senator Borah esteems the American delegation to the forthcoming international convention on disarmament as "very able." The delegation consists of Hon. Elihu Root, Secretary of State, Hughes, Senator Lodge and Senator Underwood, and it is testimony to their greatness that Senator Borah admits that they will do. He is not always easy to suit.

The Greek-Turkish war is considerably more serious than opera bouffe, but one cannot escape being reminded of that upon reading a despatch that "hostilities cease when armies take a rest."

The Russian Third International's appeal to all American workmen to contribute one day's pay to the relief of hungry Russians is not unlikely to be met with the reminder that there is a situation here growing out of unemployment that requires consideration. It is pitiful that foreign people hunger, but it is reasonable to consider whether anybody is or likely to be hungry at home.

The woman at the State Fair who carried an electric fan about with her while she was seeing the sights, which she set going when the waves became too oppressive, has started an idea. It is one that may be exploited in the Eastern heat centers to greater advantage than in California, however, for the calories are better withstood here.

So much has been published about hunters, mistaken for deer, being shot by other hunters that it might have been supposed that even the tyros who get abroad with guns would have been forewarned and taken some pains to discriminate reasonably close between man and deer, but here is another case, reported from Gilroy. There is nothing that can be done about it except to keep on warning.

We have the opinion of Mrs. Annette Adams, and of Congressman Julius Kahn that prohibition is not popular, and besides does not prohibit, and John Hutchison, proprietor of Scotch distilleries which turn out a brand that was popular here in those other days, who is now in the United States, gets quoted as concurring. Thus the evidence is accumulating.

"Building supplies in San Francisco, more plentiful." They have been plentiful enough all along; the trouble has been combinations that amounted to profiteering. The whole building industry was so congested or embargoed by manipulation of the several elements of cost that it required something akin to a surgical operation to liberate it. And it does not appear to be certain that it has been well thrown off yet.

The news from San Mateo that a councilman is running a steam roller is to be taken literally. Generally the announcement of a steam roller being manipulated by an official is accepted in a political sense, but this time it means what it says.

SPIRIT OF THE STATE PRESS.

Conditions always seem to adjust themselves to the needs of the moment. It is stated that a new market has been opened up that will undoubtedly call for a larger production of alfalfa, or at least take care of the surplus. It has been found that alfalfa makes a first-class orchard fertilizer and is in great demand for this purpose.—Merced Star.

W. de Martini, of West Berkeley, tore through town so fast on Monday that he could not make the turn at the corner and went down two blocks in slowing up. As he came back to the McDermott corner Marshal H. C. Grove nabbed him and escorted him to the city hall, where he introduced him to Judge George Dukes who fined him $20 for traveling over 15 miles an hour through the town limits.—Dixon Tribune.

The present term of George Weniger as county treasurer and tax collector will be the last in which the two offices will be served by one official. This was decided at the session of the board of supervisors last Tuesday when that body passed the necessary ordinance which will allow the change as recommended by the last grand jury.—Suisun Courier.

A minister not a thousand miles from Byron, who is too modest to allow his name to be used, has discovered a new disease. In describing it he says the patient shows no symptoms on the surface, but takes a hearty breakfast. About church time, however, the attack comes on and keeps him at bay.—Byron Times.

NEW GUINEA

Land of Head Hunting Savages and Sea-Bathing Ghos Largest Island in the World.

"The huge island of New Guinea is ed on piles. In the southern section many of the native tribes live in rude huts built in trees. "Though on the whole, the Papuans are not devoid of good traits. Some of the tribes have a passion for cleanliness and believe that the spirits of their departed tribesmen love to bathe. They therefore carefully construct paths leading from each grave to the sea. Some of the communities near the northeast coast are literally 'villages beautiful.' They are clean-swept, with streets sanded and planted with ornamental shrubs. In the center are little 'plazas' or 'palaver spots,' where conferences are held. These are paved with flat stones besides which are erected stone pillars to serve as back-rests. "The animal life of New Guinea, like that of Australia, is queer to western eyes and represents the fauna of ancient geological ages. With the exception of the pig, which was probably introduced from Asia, all the beasts are either marsupials, having pockets like the opossum, or else lay eggs like birds. But in the number and beauty of its birds New Guinea surpasses many other portions of the earth's surface. It is the home of the gorgeously colored bird of paradise and the ingenious and romantic bower-bird. Bird skins make up one of the important exports of the island."

JUST FOLKS: By EDGAR A. GUEST

The Old Solemn Parlor
I want to see 'em romping on the rug and on the chairs,
And I rather like to fancy that the home we keep is theirs;
I like a house that's ready for the things they want to do,
Not one that's stiff and solemn where the furniture is new;
Let 'em bang at the piano, let 'em go if as they choose,
There is nothing here so costly that it wasn't bought to use.
There was once a house I know of, where the parlor door was locked,
And if youngsters stopped inside it all the grown-ups there were shocked,
And if sticky little fingers touched a table or a chair.

PICNICS.
Picnics are a good thing. They are to the summer time what Thanksgiving Day is to the fall. They bring us into the open space of nature and free us from the cares, worries and polite conventionalities of an artificial world. Picnics bespeak a primitive stirring of the blood, which sends us forth, as it did our ancestors when the land was young, along the road that gypsies follow. Of course, picnics have developed until there are nearly as many varieties as there are makes of automobiles. There is the excursion that includes the special picnic dinner, set with silver and perforated paper dishes, thermos bottles and folding frying pans. It is the aristocrat of picnics. There are special meal containers for each kind of food. The bourgeois affair, on the other hand, shows more of the home-making idea. Ordinary paper containers hold the food articles. The butter goes in a jelly jar alongside the salt-cellar that has been in the family ever since the wedding. By the time the picnic grounds are reached, the butter has crawled in alongside the bananas, while it is not unusual to detect the flavor of the salt-cellar in the pickles, the chocolate cake and what not. Then there is the true vagabondia picnic. You thrust some matches into the old coat or knapsack, a few green onions and a knife, and in fifteen minutes you are on the trail. True nature lovers prefer this sort of a summer-day outing. Picnics have become such an institution in American life that even business organizations find time to lock their doors once a year and cater to such spree. It is a good thing. They are grand affairs. Picnics mean fun. They bring laughter. They drive away sadness. They mark a day's parole from the prison house of artificial manners and respectability.—Minneapolis Journal.

about YOUR HEALTH

Just What Will Aid You in Getting Rid of Dandruff

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D., Commissioner of Health, New York City.

Certain diseases or conditions seem to be the subject of a tremendous amount of discussion, misinformation, and, so far as care is concerned, of disappointment. Perhaps more has been written and said about dandruff than about any other physical ailment.

To my mind most of this discussion is idle, certainly purely speculative, and very poorly founded. Perhaps what I shall say will not help much, but I hope to give you a few useful suggestions regarding dandruff.

Dandruff is the most common and most widespread of all the diseases attacking the skin. It is known to the medical profession as "pityriasis capitis." "Pityriasis" is derived from a Greek word meaning "bran." So, you see, the medical term is wisely chosen. "Bran-like scales of the head" well describes the trouble.

There are diseases attacking other parts of the body which are much like dandruff. Sores, for example, when they are brushed off more or less speedily. A scale-producing disease in the hair becomes doubly disagreeable. It cannot be dealt with as it can on the exposed body. The scales pile up on the scalp, cling to the roots of the hair and cause a regular "mass."

If dandruff is permitted to accumulate there will follow more or less irritation and itching of the scalp.

In this condition the oil-producing glands of the scalp are over-active usually. This increased activity causes excessive oiliness of the hair, and, in turn, results in the development of more and more dandruff.

Like other skin diseases, it is probable that lessened resistance, due to low vitality, is showing its effects. Wrong eating, especially of excessive amounts of fats—such as cream, butter and pork—is another aggravating factor. There are serious doubts about any general basis for the cause of dandruff. Certainly the existence of a germ has not been proved.

In the treatment of dandruff I see no reason why a man should have any particular trouble in removing its disagreeable effects. In hair care it's merely a matter of cleanliness.

It is different with a woman. To wash and dry a great mass of long hair is not easy. But a man can easily and quickly cleanse his hair and scalp. While he will not remove the scales of dandruff, he will have his scalp so clean that no evidence of the trouble will be noticeable for several days.

In washing your hair use a good soap. There are so-called "hard water soaps," made to form a good lather with hard water. Wet your hair, work up a good lather, rub it into your scalp with the ends of your fingers, and then rinse out. Having done this well, repeat the process at once. The second washing probably will cut the grease and take away the scales.

The secret of the successful shampoo lies in the thoroughness of the rinsing. You should use an abundance of water—gallons of water. Unless the soap is entirely removed, it, in turn, will add scales to a dandruff-covered scalp.

A man who has dandruff, if he can, should clean his hair and scalp in this way twice a week. I do not believe good soap and clean water will do the least harm, and I know that the scalp can be made sweet and clean by this procedure.

Whether a woman is to be relieved of dandruff depends on her willingness to give her hair frequent shampoos. The hair cannot be sweet if more than ten days elapse between washings.

The scalp may be treated with a lotion consisting of 15 grains each of resorcin and glycerine to the ounce of water. This is applied with a medicine dropper, the fluid reaches your scalp, and isn't wasted on your hair. This remedy should be thoroughly rubbed into the scalp with the ends of the fingers.

Resorcin is not advisable for light hair, because it darkens it. This simple treatment, plus an abundance of soap and gallons of water, will do much to cause the annoyance of dandruff to disappear.

HOT WEATHER VISION

Your genuine optimist discovers food for cheerful meditation—even such discouraging things as the wilted collars, adhesive clothing and irritable tempers induced by the record-breaking heat waves which have characterized the present summer.

The New York World, surveying merry England in the grip of almost unprecedented heat, sees things which impel it to make a joyful noise.

It discovers that the Britons, who have heretofore adhered—literally at times—to their waistcoats, even in the hottest of weather, have this year been forced to adopt the American practice of going without these garments, and in this circumstance it perceives an opportunity for trade expansion which should not be overlooked.

Without waistcoats, argues the paper, British manufacturing will require more belts and better belts, and as American manufacturers make the best belts in the world, a magnificent new avenue is opened for their export departments.

Col. Mulberry Sellers discovered a splendid field for the sale of eye water in Africa, where all the men, women and children suffered from sore eyes, and maybe the English market for American belts possesses features which the world has not envisaged.

It may take such long and expensive education to bring the conservative Briton to using the belt that the cost would eat up all the profits to be derived from the new market.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

SCHURMAN TAKES POST.
PEKING, Sept. 13 (By the Associated Press).—Dr. Jacob Gould Schurman, new American minister to China, presented his credentials to President Hsu-Shih Chang yesterday and assumed his post. After the ceremony Dr. Schurman had a long, confidential chat with the president and the foreign minister.

The river Arga is the Celtic word for "the water."

ROBBER SUSPECT RECAPTURED.
TOLEDO, Sept. 13.—Charles Schultz, one of the three men convicted of conspiracy in connection with the $1,000,000 postoffice robbery who escaped from the county jail on Labor day, was captured at Crissey, about twelve miles west of Toledo, shortly before noon yesterday by Toledo police, federal authorities announced.

LIBERAL PARTY IS PLANNED FOR FALL CAMPAIGN

National and State Organization To Be Considered At Conference Soon.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Plans are being made today for a new liberal political party.

It will be launched formally this fall and will undergo its first actual test of strength in the congressional elections of 1922.

The movement is sponsored by the committee of 48, which is acting independently of any other organization. There will be no attempt at alliance with the Farmer-Labor, Socialist-Single Tax or any other parties. In fact, any possible support by those parties will be discouraged.

J. A. Hopkins, chairman of the committee of 48, said today he believed the two parties had "grown to counter" and "had outlived their usefulness."

"Instead of being distinctive, the Republican and Democratic parties now include reactionaries, conservatives, liberals and radicals," he said. "We believe the great mass of independent voters in this country are liberal in political thought. It is our purpose to amalgamate them in one party which may even take the name of 'liberal.'"

Hopkins said the present plan of the committee of 48:

A national conference will be called this fall, composed of representative men and women from all states, for the purpose of adopting a national and state organization plan. A national committee will be elected and organizations initiated in each state preparatory to the elections. The heart of this movement lies in the middle west.

School Board Job List Is Cut to Save $10,000

The board of education last night effected a saving of another $10,000 by abolishing a series of office positions, ratified the appointment of J. Fred Anderson as attendance officer, and disputed over allowing $50 per month for the upkeep of the auto of Marston Campbell, chief of the construction department.

The board also decided to ask Mayor Davis for a copy of the report given him by Haskins and Sells, assistants, who audited the school department's books, and upon whose audit the city council based its cuts in the 1921-22 school appropriation. It came to light last night that Haskins and Sells have only partially audited the school department's books.

When this was alleged some time ago, it was denied at the mayor's office. Last night Haskins and Sells explained to the board of education that the books were only partially audited and it was suggested that perhaps the board might like to conclude the work for itself, at a cost of not more than $350.

REPORT NOT COMPLETE.
"It was not given in the city council that this report was not complete," said Commissioner Edwards, "and yet the council cut down the school appropriation on the basis of the Haskins and Sells report."

"It might be in order to get a report from the mayor," said President Boyle.

"Oh, it's a private report of the mayor's," said Director Fred Campbell. "Why should we ask for it?"

It was finally decided to send a formal letter to the mayor, asking for a copy on which to base future action on the Haskins and Sells letter.

A small storm was created when the matter of paying $50 for the upkeep of Engineer Marston Campbell's automobile came up. Director Fred Campbell, head of the finance department, held up the $50 warrant.

"This is a contract matter," said Commissioner Edwards, "and it has been referred to the district attorney, who has found it legal. It seems to me we can do nothing but pay it."

CAMPBELL SAYS "NO."
"Then you'll have to do without my signature or vote," said Fred Campbell. "The district attorney can give any legal opinion he chooses but it isn't his mind me."

"I shudder to think what would happen if every member of this board took this stand," said Edwards. "It would mean that the contracts of the board of education would be unreliable from every angle."

Later President Boyle said the board ought to settle once and for all this question, the monthly sum allowed several employees for the upkeep of their automobiles. We ought to have some employee start a friendly suit and bring it to the court.

"Are there any volunteers?" asked Edwards, looking around to various employees. There were none.

UPKEEP OF AUTOS.
"The street cars are handy," said Boyle. "At present the schools are hard pressed for money. Folks ought to sacrifice something."

"It would hardly be efficiency for a building construction superintendent to wait on street cars," said Edwards. "He has to visit many buildings daily."

No final decision was made of the matter except to refer it to the committee of the whole.

A suggestion by O. D. Jacoby that the department allow a series of ten talks by local bankers in the high schools was approved. The plan means that a short course in the meaning of accounts and the reasons for banks will be given in the high schools by the volunteer speakers, who will demonstrate the idea of economy and thrift to the students.

MEDICAL DISPUTE.
Charles S. Quayle appeared before the board with a complaint, the cost at Hawthorne school a regular physical examination is being held by doctors and nurses upon every student, without taking heed of the wishes of students or parents. He said the blue card which tells of the rights of parents in this matter was not circulated this year, and exemptions to the examination are being refused.

"The principals have no right to refuse exemptions," said Superintendent Hunter. "I will look into this."

Because of a general teachers' meeting Wednesday afternoon, the first of the new semester, the board decided to hold its meeting of the committee of the whole on Friday afternoon.

In announcing the appointment of J. Fred Anderson as the school attendance officer, Superintendent Hunter advised the board that $500 has been saved on this position. Anderson is now director of citizenship and as such will put in one-quarter time as head of the attendance office.

It was announced to the board that the firm of Whitthorne & Swan have contributed a prize of $50 to be offered to the student who presents the best literary design for the Theodore Roosevelt junior high school.

The elimination of $10,010 worth of clerical positions in the school department was suggested in a letter by Lloyd Barzee, business manager, who said that these positions, though necessary, can go unfilled throughout the remainder of the present school year without serious injury to the schools. The positions, with the salaries thereto, are as follows:

Dante Lectures Given At Mills College

Joining with students throughout the world in commemorating the life of a Florentine who lived six centuries ago, Mills College authorities have set aside the three assembly hours of this week for lectures on Dante. The first of the series was given today in the auditorium of the college by Professor Richard Thayer Holbrook of the University of California. He chose as his subject "The Portraits of Dante."

Tomorrow morning, President Aurelia Henry Reinhardt of the college, will address the students on "Dante, the Man," and Dr. F. H. Denhardt of Woodland will speak Friday on Dante's "Divine Comedy."

The Mills College Drama Association, at its monthly meeting today, gave the drama over to the discussion "Dante in the Light of Longfellow and Tennyson."

Among the growing collection of rare books and manuscripts in the Margaret Carnegie library at Mills College is the manuscript of a new English translation of the Song of Songs, based on a revised text of Morris Jastrow Jr., Ph. D., L. L. D., professor in the University of Pennsylvania. The manuscript was recently by the author to the college.

Woman Is Injured When Hit By Auto

Mrs. George Such, 5541 Miles avenue, was injured yesterday when she was struck at College avenue and Hudson street by an automobile driven by Joe Greenberg, 27 Fresno street. She was rushed to Fashion hospital, where it was found that she was suffering bruises and cuts.

According to the report of the police, Mrs. Such was running to catch a College avenue car when the automobile struck her.

Pastor Hurt When Auto Turns Over

Rev. Joseph Fahy of Hayward was slightly injured last night when his automobile turned over on East Fourteenth street, near Nineteenth avenue, as he turned the machine suddenly in an effort to avoid a collision. Thomas H. Vallejo, who was riding with Rev. Fahy, escaped injury. The machine was badly damaged.

BENSON NAMED TO S. F. DISTRICT

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—In anticipation of the recruiting drive which will be opened by the Marine Corps in the near future to replace vacancies in the corps caused by the imminent discharge of two-year men, appointments of officers are being made in the Western recruiting division.

First Lieutenant Albert E. Benson, U. S. M. C., personal aide to General Barnett and a resident of Berkeley, has been assigned to the San Francisco district, with headquarters at 560 Market street.

Lieutenant Benson was given a farewell dinner, followed by a theater party, tendered by the officers of General Barnett's staff, with whom he has been serving, and was also presented with a handsome traveling dressing case by the command.

Baby Girl Left At Convent Door By Poor Parents

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—A two-month-old girl baby was left on the doorstep of the convent attached to St. Mary's parochial school early yesterday morning. The tiny bundle of humanity was lying beside two bottles of milk on a pillow. There was also a note, asking the sisters of the convent to take good care of the child, the name of which was given as "Carmelita Carrullo."

The note said that the parents were too poor to feed the child, which seemed under nourished but quite clean.

The baby was sent from the convent to the Associated Charities, who will keep the child and receive offers from those who may wish to adopt her.

WOMEN CONTROL N. Y. ELECTIONS

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Women voters, participating for the first time in a mayoralty campaign, were conceded by political leaders to hold the balance of power today in the primaries that will decide who of four Republican candidates is to contest the mayoralty election with Mayor John E. Hylan. The mayor has no Democratic opponent.

The four aspirants for the Republican nomination are: Henry H. Corran, president of the borough of Manhattan; F. H. Laguardia, president of the Board of Aldermen; Judge Reuben L. Haskell of Brooklyn and William M. Bennett, former state senator from Brooklyn.

Brighten Homes

EVERY young couple starting out in life has visions of joyful hours spent before the fireside with healthy, happy children; but, alas, how often young women who long for children are denied that happiness because of some functional derangement which may be corrected by proper treatment. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is just the medicine for these conditions, as the following letters show:

McDonald, Ohio.—"I suffered from a displacement, a weakness, and a great deal of pain. The doctor said nothing would help me but an operation. He said I could never have any children because I was too weak."

"I had often heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, so I tried it and it helped me. Now I am in the best of health, do all of my own work, and have a lovely boy six months old. I recommend your medicine to my friends and you have my permission to use this letter."

Mrs. J. C. EAGLESON, 436 Garfield Ave., McDonald, Ohio.

Mesa, Colorado.—"Ever since I was a young girl I suffered from a great deal of pain every month. I tried different medicines, but only got relief for a short time. I had been married seven years, and wanted a child, but was not well enough. My mother advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as it had helped her, and I am happy to say it restored my health, my pains disappeared, and I have a fine little girl. I advise all women who suffer as I did to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

SPANISH WAR VETERANS MEET

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 13.—Penal legislation and a resolution urging retention of Spanish War Veterans in the federal service, without demotion, were before the annual encampment of the United Spanish War Veterans today.

William F. Lueper of New York was elected supreme grandissimo of the military organization of the Veterans, composed of Spanish War Veterans. F. L. Gunther, Los Angeles, was elected a trustee.

DEPORTATION IS SOLUTION FOR WAR OFFENSES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Communitation of the sentences of four federal prisoners convicted of offenses against the war laws, conditioned upon their deportation to Soviet Russia was understood today to be under consideration by government officials. It was intimated that a number of the approximately 200 prisoners now serving sentences for war offenses are foreign born, and that their deportation might solve the problem of their ultimate treatment by the government.

The first Y. W. C. A. room was opened at Boston in 1855.

TALK DELIVERED ON CITIZENSHIP

J. H. MacLafferty was the principal speaker at the Business Development League's weekly luncheon at the Hotel Oakland yesterday. The subject of his talk was "Good and Bad Citizenship."

MacLafferty pointed out a number of failures in business in Oakland within the past two years wherein, he said, the failures were due to the inability of the proprietors to attract business because of their poor citizenship.

GIRLS NOW TO WEAR 'EM LONG, PULL THEM UP

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—The subtle era in history display dates from today in Chicago. The long skirt you see trailing down the boulevard is not a long skirt at all but merely an optical illusion.

Madame Hosie came all the way from Paris to talk such things over with the Fashion Art League, now in session here.

"Ah, (would be such a pity to cover up these pretty American girls," sighed the madame. "It is well that fashion won't permit."

"The new fall skirt is not lengthy," it is just long pants tucked up in an envelope fold, with a bit of coquette.

It is much prettier for a girl to pull a long skirt up a few inches and reveal a flutter of billowy lingerie than for her to have a short dress on. Subtlety is the thing.

This is the fear of the new American styles. They have part of the hem caught up in a teasing drape.

The skirts are really as long as those now worn, but to get the idea of length there is always something hanging down, perhaps an overskirt of beads and outlines the odd bit of lace.

"Wild West" Veterans Will Hold Banquet

The 363d Infantry organization, which was a part of the 91st American (Wild West) division, will hold a get-together banquet and smoker Monday evening, September 26, at Neptune Beach in Alameda. The regular meeting of the organization will also be held at that time, it was announced today.

The banquet has been so arranged that those attending the 31st division reunion at Los Angeles will have ample time to return from the southern city in time for the meeting at Neptune Beach. A steamer from Los Angeles is scheduled to arrive in San Francisco at noon on September 26.

Employees of County Return From Outing

County Tax Collector Edward T. Planer has returned from a week's vacation on the McGinniss ranch, about a mile from St. Helena. A number of deputies from the office of County Assessor J. H. Clay accompanied him. The ranch is owned by Chief Clerk McGinniss of Clay's office.

For convenience of San Francisco and Eastbay members of the organization tickets for the affair may be obtained from Joe Cohen, 19 Kearny street, San Francisco, or A. J. Slaughter, circulation department, Oakland TRIBUNE.

Old Mansions Yield Building Material

PITTSFIELD, Mass., Sept. 13.—Some of New England's fine old mansions are being sawed apart to make modern homes.

One bit of crosscut saw handwork here was the successful division of a 2-room house into two apartment buildings. One of the sections was moved to a new site. The "old" Whitehead mansion of 27 rooms is to be torn down and made into many small houses. Its three huge chimneys alone are said to contain brick enough to build two modest homes.

Thousands of mansions like this were built in New England years ago when materials and labor were inexpensive. Increasing cost of maintenance has caused many to be sold.

SUFFOCATED BY MUD.
ANTWERP, Sept. 13.—While bathing at a summer resort on the Scheidt river, Count Plentise dove into the water ahead of his companions. When he failed to rise, search was made for him and he was found suffocated with his head stuck in the mud.

W. O. W. HOLD BIG RECRUITING MEET

More than 1100 members of the Woodmen of the World attended the booster rally conducted by Oakland Camp No. 34, as the first step in a campaign for 800 new members by January 1. The affair, which was attended by prominent Woodmen from throughout the State, was held in the hall of the Pacific building. It was said to have been the largest rally of its kind held here in 16 years.

Thirty-one past commanders of Oakland Camp were present, and 42 camps were represented. One hundred and twenty-seven applications for membership were voted on during the evening.

Speeches were made by Peter F. Gilroy, personal representative of the head council, George K. Rogers of Portland, Joseph Horn of Los Angeles, H. Fox of Montana and F. E. Tichenor of Oakland.

One of the features of the evening was the presentation of a past commander's jewel to Judge E. C. Robinson of Oakland. A second rally will be held next Monday night.

New Members Will Be Guests of C. of C.

Members who have joined the Chamber of Commerce within the past three months will be hosts to the general membership of the body at the next monthly membership luncheon at the Hotel Oakland, Friday. Final plans for the luncheon were completed at a meeting of the committee yesterday, of which J. Cal Dwyer is chairman.

Chester Rowell of the State Railroad Commission will talk at the Friday luncheon. Rowell, who has recently returned from the Orient, will speak on "What I Saw in China and Japan." He will dwell principally on the attitude of the Japanese toward the United States.

Following Rowell's talk there will be a musical program.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 13.

General James Wolfe was killed on the plains of Abraham, Quebec, on Sept. 13, 1759. In 1761 Casper Wistar, a physician, was born and the wistaria that blooms on the porch of the church was named for him. Is there any other physician who ever had a flower named after him? Leonard Kip, who wrote "California Sketches," was born in 1826, and the duel between Terry and Broderick was fought in 1859.

loud chorles from the art de-

"that the second man was a

Uncle Wiggly Stories

By Howard R. Garis

She said "Goo-Goo!" and went fast to sleep

UNCLE WIGGLY AND SQUEAKY'S BOTTLE

"Where are you going this time of evening?" asked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy one day after supper, when she saw Uncle Wiggly starting out from his hollow stump bungalow. "Surely you are not going to look for an adventure now, are you?" she asked. "It will soon be dark!"

"I am going over to Grandfather Goosey Gander's to play a game of checkers," answered the bunny gentleman. "And I have my flashlight with me, Nurse Jane, so I'm not afraid in the dark. Perhaps you would like to come along," he asked politely.

"Thank you, no," answered the muskrat lady housekeeper. "I must get my bread for I am going to bake tomorrow."

So Uncle Wiggly, with his glasses perched across his pink, twinkling nose, started hopping to the new moon. He was crossing a field near a little house made of green moss when, all of a sudden, his glasses fell off his pink, twinkling nose.

"Oh, dear!" cried Uncle Wiggly. "This is too bad. Without my glasses I can't see to play checkers. And if I haven't my glasses on I can't see to look where I dropped them, to pick them up! Oh, what shall I do?"

"Perhaps I can help you," said a little voice. Uncle Wiggly looked around, and, looking around, Uncle Wiggly dimly saw a small animal coming toward him. There was a little light from the new moon, but hardly enough to see without his glasses. The bunny gentleman could not make out who was talking to him.

"I hope it isn't the Fuzzy Fox or the Woopie Wolf," thought Mr. Longears to himself. "Without my glasses I can't even see who it is, to say nothing of seeing how to get away!"

"It is in the night," Uncle Wiggly went on the little voice, and it seemed to be kind and good.

"Oh, I have dropped my glasses here in the grass," answered the bunny. "And I can't see to pick them up. I have my flashlight with me, and if you would be so kind as to look I would be obliged to you."

"I'll help you, Uncle Wiggly," said the kind voice, and the bunny was trying his best to remember where he had heard the voice. But he couldn't recall it. However, Mr. Longears took out his flashlight, for, in spite of the new moon it was dark down on the grass.

"The bunny's flashlight was a bottle filled with lightning bugs, and by the light of these little creatures sparkling amid the shadows the lost glasses were soon found. When he had picked them up, Uncle Wiggly looked to see who had helped him, and he saw Floppy Twistytail, the piggy boy.

"Oh, it's you!" said Uncle Wiggly. "And to think I feared you might be the Fox or Wolf! Ha! Ha! Ha!"

Floppy laughed also, and said he was very glad he happened to be coming in from play when he heard the bunny sigh for his lost glasses.

"But you had better skip in now and go to bed," said Uncle Wiggly. "You and Floppy did. The bunny went on to Grandpa Goosey's, and the two friends had fun playing checkers until it was time for Uncle Wiggly to start home."

Off he hopped through the darkness, flashing his bottle of lightning bugs now and then to see the way. As he reached the green moss house where the Twistytail piggy lived, he heard through an open window, Mrs. Twistytail say:

"But my dear Squeaky, I haven't any milk for your bottle! I am sorry, but all the milk is gone, and it is so late I can't get any more at the store. Go to sleep like a nice pig baby! Please do!"

"I want my milk!" cried Squeaky, the baby pig.

"But I can't get you any milk," grand Mrs. Twistytail said. "You are keeping us all awake, Squeaky. Go to sleep!"

"I can't! I want my bottle of milk!" cried Squeaky. "I do want it!"

"Ha! Here is where I can help," said Uncle Wiggly. "I just saw, by the flash of my lightning bugs, some milkweed plants growing here. I'll squeeze some of their milk into Squeaky's bottle for her, Mrs. Twistytail, and your little baby will take that and go to sleep."

"Oh, how kind of you!" said the pig baby.

"Well, Floppy was kind to me," said the bunny. So he gathered some milkweed, squeezed out the juice into Squeaky's bottle, and when the little pig baby began to drink, she closed her eyes, said "Goo-Goo," and went fast to sleep!

"The bunny and the piggy hopped home, very happy. And if the ice cream doesn't go to dance around on top of the stove where it might melt and run down the chimney, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggly's best buckles."

A Trip to Mars.

George and Harry had volunteered to be shot from this earth in a giant rocket to Mars. It was estimated that it would take them just fourteen hours to get there, if nothing happened. The rocket would go just 1,000 miles per minute.

So after they attached the machine that would shoot them back to earth on the rocket, and they had air tanks that would hold 1,000,000 cubic inches of air, and food and all guns and clothing, they were shot off into space.

They soon discovered that they were not headed for Mars but for another far-off planet. They were frightened.

Soon they landed.

Chapter 2—What They Saw.

Instead of green grass they saw grass of a brilliant purple color. The trees had yellow trunks and purple branches. Here and there were pink flowers with purple stems.

Soon George said, "Whatever is that?"

He pointed his finger at the horizon. There was a thing coming up. It looked like an elephant with a lion's body. It was pink and green. George took a shot at it. It screamed and jumped, then dropped dead.

Then the boys took off their air tanks and walked around a bit. Harry saw something white. There lay the skeleton of a man.

The boys didn't know what to think. They saw some papers and clothing. They looked at the papers and found them to belong to a great explorer whom everyone had thought was in Mars.

Chapter 3—What Else They Saw.

On and on they walked. Soon they saw a big thing walking toward them. It had great bulging eyes, a long snout-nose, a square body, long neck, long ears and arms.

To their surprise it spoke to them in their own language. They asked the creature where it learned their language.

"I lived in Mars. One day a rocket landed from Zoom (our earth) and a man got out. We became fast friends. He taught me his language and I taught him mine. He proposed taking me back to the earth with him. I refused but at last he persuaded me to return with him. We were half-way there when a comet hit us and we landed here. A few months ago he went hunting, and I never saw him again. I guess he stayed to death."

Then the boys led him back to the skeleton. The creature vied over the remains of his friend, and then he returned to Mars with the boys.

Chapter 4—What They Saw in Mars.

Which they landed in Mars they saw many such creatures as their friend. All over were giant steel towers. Big houses, all made of steel. Great factories, giant machinery, for these people were great inventors.

They discovered that Mars was much bigger than the earth. Soon they jumped to the earth. They brought pictures from the different places they had seen.

They received $100,000 for their bravery in such a big undertaking.

Dear Aunt Elsie: Don't you love the mountains? Every night I go to sleep looking up at the stars in the big black sky with the bright yellow moon peeping over the tall dark trees.

And most every night I hear the wind come rushing through the pine trees, and hear life into a moan. Here is a poem that I have written. It expresses my feelings exactly in regard to the wind. I don't see how it ever could be lonely, do you? Here is the poem:

Oh, Wind, How Could You Be Lonely?

Oh, stately wind, from yonder height, Who fans the forests in the night, And moans among the pines' young arms,

To you the traveler fresh alarms, How can you ever lonely be? With playmates such as these? And o'er the sea

You whisper, whisper till you come To steep high cliffs, that rise up from The tumbling, tossing roaring sea, Where foamy crested billows beat, Where fishes dart

And are but part Of the wonderful world of scenery Oh, Wind, how could you lonely be? MARGARET SMITH.

Here Are Vegetarian Dinners You May Relish.

Persons adopting a vegetarian diet are often at a loss to know what to use for the meat substitute. It must be something hearty and satisfying, and yet of a vegetable foundation. Curry is often passed by because "it's too peppery to use with anything but meat." But this is a mistake, as a cream curry, for either vegetables or fruit, need be only spicy enough to be well flavored. The pungent part is of ginger and not pepper, and it is considered healthful.

The following dishes, including Oriental rice, will be found hearty, and worthy to take the place of a meat or fish dish. All vegetables used must be fresh to get the best results.

POTATO AND NUT CROQUETTES.

Boil and mash enough potatoes to make two cupfuls. Add onion juice, two tablespoonsful of soft butter, one tablespoonful of milk, pepper and the yolk of one egg. Mix thoroughly. Put a quarter of a cupful of cream and crumbs into a saucepan. Stir to a thick paste and cool. Then add a scant half-cupful of chopped nuts, salt, pepper and the yolk of an egg. Fold this into the potato mixture, then form into croquettes. This quantity makes eight. Beat up the remainder of the eggs with a tablespoonful of water, brush the croquettes with the mixture, roll them in crumbs and fry in hot fat.

ORIENTAL RICE.

Wash six tablespoonfuls of rice and mix it with a small can of tomatoes, half a cupful each of butter and grated cheese, 5 minced onions, one cupful of hot water, a quarter of a cupful of chopped olives, one minced red pepper, salt and a dash of minced onion. Mix and turn into a buttered baking dish, and bake for one hour, or until the rice is tender.

VEGETABLE PIE.

Luna a buttered, deep dish with good plain crust. Fill with layers of cooked and diced vegetables, such as potatoes, carrots, beans, peas, parsnips, and a little turnip. Add a minced raw onion and a little chopped parsley. Dot each layer with butter. Turn a cupful with a half cup of cream sauce over all. Put a little of crust over the top and bake until the crust is a good brown.

DEVILED BANANAS.

Put six bananas through the ricer and add to them one minced onion, a dash of pepper, half a cupful of crumbs, a beaten egg, a saltspoonful of curry powder, salt, pepper, and a quarter of a cupful of cream. Put into a buttered ramequin, dust with a little grated cheese, and bake twelve minutes.

FRIED CAULIFLOWER.

Parboil in salted water a trimmed cauliflower until tender, but not soft. Cool and cut in slices, dip the slices into egg and fine crumbs and fry in hot fat a delicate brown. Dish on toast rounds, and pour over a well-flavored tomato sauce. Do not make the sauce too thick, but have it the consistency of cold honey.

There were 13,000 runaway girls in New York City last year.

There are 83,000 less women than men in Australia. Only a few years ago the females were in the majority.

Cry on Geraldine's Shoulder

Listen, World

The Married Woman was giving the Engaged Girl a tip concerning the Management of Husbands.

"Don't ever let him be too sure of you," says she. "Always have a little affair going on the side. Nothing wrong, you know, because just enough to keep him guessing. Keep things nice and spicy. Don't ever let him know how much you love him or he won't be interested in you."

The Engaged Girl listened to every word with a joyful glow to her eye. Would she keep him guessing? Would she better believe she would? For wasn't this theory of Husband Management backed up by all the lady friends since Adam ate the apple and blamed it on Eve? It was, but nevertheless, I do believe that the most abominable of all abominable theories is that same one that "you must play with a man's affections in order to keep him interested." Every young girl has it preached to her and it's a silly, sickening lie. "Don't show your love," or "he'll hold you cheap!"

Whisper the Feminine Wise Head and forthwith she begins to doubt out her affection in miser little dribbles as if it were chicken feed.

Love is the most beautiful and vital necessity of the human soul. By the giving and the getting of it, does the soul thrive and go about its work with gladness and power. We cannot get it by hiding it any more than we can grow

Here is a letter which is going straight to the hearts of many of us. And it is going to touch a wider circle than Madge perhaps guessed. I have hitherto touched on this evil very lightly for it is a difficult one to handle in public print. But the uniform and unfailing effect of your response to my first letter me now realize that I can appeal to you on this as on every other problem.

THERE IS A WAVE OF SENTIMENTALITY IN THE AIR. THE WORLD TODAY THAT PERMEATES ALL THOUGHT AND ACTION. It is not confined to the illiterate workers. They may be more frank about it, but there is just as much mental and verbal nonsense amongst those workers. The canny girl with her "sooty" stories will tell you a lot more than the sly lady across her bridge table. I think this thing comes from a rather pitiful, but wholly perverted belief. We all want love as persons, we have never wanted it before in the world's history. We want it to offset the dinginess and difficulties of life. We want it because we feel that LOVE IS POWER AS WELL AS COMFORT. It is wrong, right that far, but we are wrong in thinking, as vast masses of people do, that love comfort and love power can be gained through time and artificiality. The man or the woman who by word or deed or thought subscribes to that worship has besmirched himself or herself. And it's time now that we began to get rid of spiritual nonsense.

Make Her Blush

Dearest Pal Jerry: I know what kind of a mood you'd call this that I'm in, whether it's blue green, or plain yellow, anyway. I do feel the need of unloading it by chatting and cooking and doing vegetables, such as potatoes, carrots, beans, peas, parsnips, and a little turnip. Add a minced raw onion and a little chopped parsley. Dot each layer with butter. Turn a cupful with a half cup of cream sauce over all. Put a little of crust over the top and bake until the crust is a good brown.

MAN DIES WHEN TRUCK PLUNGES OVER PRECIPICE

Truck Found By Hunter At Foot of Grade; Driver's Body Buried Under Car.

SAN JOSE, Sept. 13.—The second fatality to take place on the recently completed San Jose-Santa Cruz highway occurred yesterday afternoon when Frank Loccietelli, a well-known and well-to-do rancher of the Vine Hill district in the Santa Cruz mountains, lost his life near Glenwood when an automobile truck in which he was driving plunged over an embankment.

The exact cause of the crash is not known as Loccietelli was unaccompanied and no one has been found who witnessed the plunge of his car. It is believed, however, that a defective steering gear may have caused the machine to get from under control.

The truck, which had apparently turned turtle several times, was found at the foot of a deep ravine by a hunter, who notified Sheriff Howard V. Trafton of Santa Cruz of the accident. Trafton, investigating with deputies, found the body of the rancher buried beneath the wreckage. It was extricated with difficulty.

Loccietelli was married and had several children. It is said.

Dahlia Show Will Be Biggest in Country

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—The dahlia exhibition of the Dahlia Society of California, which opens for three days at the Palace Hotel on Thursday, was characterized yesterday by President J. M. Davies as the largest show of its kind in this country. Davies states that the show occupies many hundreds square feet of space more than the shows held in Boston, New York and Baltimore, and that the actual participating dahlia gardeners are more than twice as many as the New York shows.

Entries for the coming show have come from all parts of the State, while ahlund Ore, is sending down an exhibit which will arrive in ice tomorrow and be thawed out for the opening of the show on Thursday.

Final arrangements for the show were completed yesterday by Show Manager Frank C. Burns. He has arranged several innovations in placing of the displays that will add considerably to the attractiveness of the exhibits.

Eight Law Courts To Be Opened At U. C.

The judges and court officers will be graduate students of the law school, and the lawyers will be the seniors enrolled in the law classes. The students paid into firms of attorneys and are then assigned cases for presentation.

ALLEGED MURDER CONFESSION FOUL LIE, SAYS BURCH

Statement By Reporter On Los Angeles Examiner Denounced By Suspect.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 13.—(By International News Service.)—“It is an infernal lie from beginning to end.”

Speaking in a firm, clear voice, and looking the interviewer squarely in the face, as he pressed his cheek close to the bars of his cell in the county jail today, Arthur Burch denied a statement of Chandler Sprague, a reporter for the Los Angeles Examiner, that Burch had confessed to the murder of J. Belmont Kennedy, as a “tissue of falsehoods.”

“There isn’t a word of truth in it,” said Burch of Sprague’s copyrighted article printed in this morning’s Los Angeles Examiner, in which Sprague claims Burch confessed to him that he slew Kennedy with the knowledge of Mrs. Obenchain as the only means of ending an intolerable situation.

“It is a complete fabrication and tissue of falsehoods from the first to the last words,” Burch continued. “I have talked with Chandler Sprague, but I have never uttered a word to him that would warrant his writing such a completely untruthful and untruthful statement.”

Burch had been sleeping soundly and arose from his cot to talk to the International News Service representative. He was clad only in his underwear. He appeared to be astounded when told of Sprague’s revelations.

After making his statement he said he did not care to give a further comment until he had talked with his attorney, Paul Schenck.

CHURCH DISMISSES PASTOR.

MARSHFIELD, Ore., Sept. 13.—Rev. J. T. Anderson, who disappeared and who was located at Clarkburg, West Virginia, has been dismissed as pastor of the Marshfield Baptist Church by resolutions passed at a congregational meeting, according to announcement yesterday. He given opportunity of hearing if he appears in Marshfield by next Friday night.

COLORED BOYS WHIPPED.

AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 13.—Unmasked men, late last night seized Sherman White and Theodore Peckham, negro bell boys in local hotels, took them to a secluded spot in the country and whipped them severely. The negroes were then brought back into town in an automobile and dumped out on a downtown street.

Mystery of British Lord's Death Remains Unsolved

Son of the fourth Duke of Portland, one of the most famous sportsmen of his day, there is little reason to wonder at the fact that Lord George Frederick Cavendish Bentinck had a passionate love of sport in his blood and that racing was the dominant note in his brief life from the day when he started to accumulate a stable of his own to a time when, having failed to win the Derby, he sold all his horses and abandoned the turf in despair.

One by one all the prizes of the race-course had come to him—with the exception of the Derby which seemed destined never to be his despite the fact that upon several occasions they appeared to be within his grasp. So deep at last became his despair that he decided to leave the turf and devote himself to the study of the law.

Among the horses which Lord George disposed of at figures which represented far less than their actual value was none other than the great Surplice, the winner of the next year's Derby and the St. Leger stakes. Lord Bentinck had actually had the coveted prize in his hands, and it was only a few days before he was to have ridden him to victory.

Lord Bentinck had actually had the coveted prize in his hands, and it was only a few days before he was to have ridden him to victory. He was standing before the shelves with a volume in his hand and his countenance was greatly disturbed. Surplice, whom he had parted with among the rest of his stud, had won that paramount and Olympic stake which had been the object of his life. He had nothing to console him and nothing to sustain him except his pride. Even that deserted him before a heart which he knew at least would yield him sympathy. He gave a sort of superb groan.

“All my life I have been trying for this and for what have I sacrificed?” he murmured. “It was vain to offer solace. ‘It is the blue ribbon of the turf,’ he softly repeated to himself and, sitting down before a table, buried himself in statistics.”

Was this disappointment the cause of Lord Bentinck's death, or was there foul play connected with it? was the question which all England asked, when, only a short time later, his body was found in an open field not far from his home. He had risen that morning, apparently full of health and spirits and at 4 o'clock in the afternoon had set out to walk across country to Thoresby, Lord Manvers' estate, where he was to spend the week-end. His valet, who had gone on in advance, awaited his arrival, but when night fell and the nobleman did not put in an appearance, a searching party was made up and it was not long before one of the members discovered the body, cold and stiff. Lord Bentinck had evidently been dead for some hours, but what had been the cause of his mysterious death?

The coroner's jury, after considering the evidence for some time, finally agreed to commit themselves and returned a verdict of “Death due to the visitation of God: to-wit, a spasm of the heart.”

REMAINS MYSTERY. But there were many who were by no means satisfied with the vague verdict of the inquest. Lord Bentinck had always been a man of remarkable vigor and robust health and he had apparently never been feeling better than on the day of his death. Was it likely that such a man would drop dead during a quiet and unexciting stroll across the country? Was it not more likely that he had met someone closely related to him—someone with whom rumor credited with having been the cause of a violent quarrel only a few days before—and that a scene had ensued in the course of which Lord George had either fallen or had received a fatal blow?

Unfortunately, the ground had been trampled, and all footprints which might have told of such an encounter had been obliterated by the time the officers of the law arrived upon the scene, and, as the verdict of the coroner's jury gave an excuse for dropping the case, the truth as to whether Lord Bentinck was struck down by “the hand of God” or by a much more human agency remains one of the mysteries which will never be solved. ## County W. C. T. U. To Meet in Petaluma

PETALUMA, Sept. 13.—Petaluma will be hostess city to the W. C. T. U. county convention Thursday and Friday of this week. The meetings will be held at the Presbyterian church, and a comprehensive program has been arranged. Lunch and dinner will be served in the banquet room Thursday and a chicken pie dinner Friday noon. Several committees are busy completing the details of the convention.

At the time the officers of the law arrived upon the scene, and, as the verdict of the coroner's jury gave an excuse for dropping the case, the truth as to whether Lord Bentinck was struck down by “the hand of God” or by a much more human agency remains one of the mysteries which will never be solved. ## Shipping Board To Cut Staff On Coast

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—Shipping board offices for the Pacific Coast will remain in San Francisco despite rumors that they were to be moved to Seattle.

This information, with the statement that the board is to reduce its number of employees and salary roll by one-half, was brought here today by Meyer Lissner, member of the board, who has returned from Washington. The reductions, said Lissner, will be carried into effect within the next few months.

Lissner would not comment on the reports that W. W. Dwyer was to be given the place of Harold Eley as divisional director except to say that the matter rests upon the recommendation of the operating staff of officers. The board, he said, had agreed upon a policy of “hands off.”

New Government For Philippines Planned

MANILA, P. I., Sept. 13.—The board of directors of the American Chamber of Commerce of Manila has approved a plan proposed by H. L. Heath, president of the chamber, for territorial form of government for the Philippine Islands.

Heath suggested that the Philippines be known as the “Territory of Malaya,” and an American governor-general be appointed for a term of eight years with an annual salary of $30,000. Further, Heath proposed, the Philippine senate be abolished and the President of the United States appoint a number of American assistant secretaries who would form the cabinet of the governor-general and also constitute the law-making body in place of the senate. The board has at present 8000 employees.

Old Home Songs in Very New Dress Written by Musician

Mrs. John Wharry
Lewis (Eva Linden)
who sings “Old Nest”
songs, as conceived by her musician husband, at the American Theater

Clever Novelty in Music Arranged by Composer Accompanies Rupert Hughes' Play.

“The Old Nest,” story of motherhood and home, would not be complete without old home songs—at least so believes John Wharry Lewis, famous director and composer whose task it is to arrange the setting. Still—old songs are “old”—so he dressed them up in modern fashion.

This is the striking novelty being presented at the American Theater this week. Mrs. John Wharry Lewis (Eva Linden) just returned from the east to fill her Columbia Phonograph engagements, sings her husband's latest work. Lewis has taken some of the old home songs loved America over and added just a touch of the ultra modern—mostly in the form of clever parody. Special scenic illustrations go with the novel offering.

This musical novelty aids in the singing of “The Nest,” the famous Rupert Hughes super production, “A Symphony on Human Heart-strings,” but is the current feature at the American.—Advertisement.

Dope Smuggling At U. S. Hospital Bared
SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—Federal authorities and the State Board of Pharmacy were asked today to seek out the hidden source of narcotics from which dope is supplied to patients at the United States Public Health Service Hospital at Palo Alto. The base, it is said, is in Menlo Park.

Hospital authorities say that they confirmed their suspicions that drugs were being brought in from the outside when they caught John Maxwell, dental mechanic, in the act of distributing packages to patients. He had been suspected, said Major J. M. Wheat, and was watched. When he took a leave of absence it was to go to Menlo Park and it was on his return that he is said to have taken the narcotics into the hospital. It is said that there is no possible chance that Maxwell secured the dope in the hospital as the supply there is kept in a safe and is all accounted for.

Means for transplanting eyeballs has been perfected.

PUBLIC IS URGED TO HEED NATURE'S WARNING

Thousands of People Suffer Permanent Loss of Health Because of Neglect—Nature Has Set the Danger Signals for Us and We Cannot Afford to Pass Unnoticed the Warning That She Gives Us.

Good digestion means good health; bad digestion means bad health.

A sound stomach is worth a hundred times its weight in gold. Probably eighty per cent of all diseases originate in the digestive organs. Dyspepsia, or what is more commonly known as indigestion, is not only one of the most prevalent, but it is one of the most difficult to treat of all present-day diseases, and has for years baffled the skill of leading specialists everywhere.

Stomach trouble is almost always followed by a complication of diseases. One of the first being an overworked liver, with all the symptoms of biliousness, followed in turn with headaches, coated tongue, nausea, dizzy spells, pain in the back, palpitation of the heart and other distressing symptoms. Sooner or later the kidneys will become involved and that is just why these danger signals should be heeded in time. A wise man puts out the fire before there is too much destruction; the same theory should apply to stomach trouble.

Gas in the stomach means fermentation instead of digestion; decay, instead of nutrition for fermentation produces poisons which are absorbed by the blood, and which frequently bring on the condition known as auto-intoxication or self-poisoning. This is also why we develop acidosis, which brings on so many complications such as rheumatism, hardening of the arteries, high blood pressure and other conditions, which may mean permanent loss of health. Acidosis is one of the main forerunners of Bright's disease and diabetes, hence it is evident that if we have stomach trouble, however slight, we are foolish indeed if we do not take prompt steps to correct it.

If we are not fit as a fiddle in the morning; if we don't feel better than when we went to bed; if our breath is offensive; and we have that bad taste in the mouth; nature has set the danger signals for us and we cannot afford to neglect the warning that she gives us. That is just why the demand for Tanlac, the great Stomachic, Systematic and Reconstructive tonic has broken all World's records. The American people have learned that it probably provides the surest, safest, and quickest remedy for all such troubles, and millions upon millions have taken it with the most astonishing and gratifying results.

Tens of thousands of men and women of all ages and in all walks of life afflicted with stomach, liver and kidney disorders, some of them of long standing, as well as thousands of weak, thin, nervous men and women apparently on the verge of collapse have testified publicly that they have been fully restored to their normal health, strength and weight by its use. Still others who seemed fairly well, yet who suffered with indigestion, headaches, shortness of breath, dizzy spells, sour, gassy stomach, coated tongue, flatulence of breath, constipation, bad complexion, loss of appetite, sleeplessness at night and terribly depressed feelings state that they have been entirely relieved of these distressing symptoms and restored to health and happiness by Tanlac.

NOTE: Tanlac Vegetable Pills are an essential and vital important part of the Tanlac Treatment wherever constipation is present.

You cannot hope to get satisfactory results from the Tanlac Treatment without first establishing a free and regular movement of the bowels. It stands to reason that no treatment can do the greatest amount of good when you are suffering from constipation or biliousness, or when your system is clogged up with waste products and poisons.

Tanlac and Tanlac Vegetable Pills are sold in Oakland by the Owl Drug Company and by leading druggists everywhere.—Advertisement.

NIGHT WILL BE TURNED INTO DAY AT EXPOSITION

Giant Reflectors Planned To Light Up Industrial Tent.

The great tent which is to house the First Annual Industrial Week and Exposition to be held at Eden Park, October 1 to 5, under the auspices of the Associated Manufacturers of the East Bay cities, will be illuminated by giant reflectors which will be erected at intervals of 50 feet, according to an announcement made today by the executive committee in charge of the forthcoming exposition.

L. F. Hession, chief illuminating engineer for the exposition, has closed a contract for the acquisition of twelve sixteen-inch mirror reflectors which were used during the Panama-Pacific Exposition to illuminate many of the large buildings at the fair.

The huge tent to be used in housing the major exhibits of 12,000 products to be displayed during the fair will be 112 feet wide by 500 or more feet in length. Each of the reflectors will be of a diameter of 50,000 candlepower, and the aggregate of light which will sweep the great tented auditorium at night will total approximately 600,000 candlepower.

"The reflectors will make the big tent just as bright as if the moon were shining," Hession declared today, while describing the novel lighting system which will be one of the features of the exposition. "The reflector system will eliminate shadows, and one part of the tent will be just as light as the other. It will be the most modern indirect lighting system that science has so far devised."

More than 100 manufacturers of the East Bay district attended a luncheon meeting of the executive committee held at noon today at the Hotel Oakland. At today's meeting the manufacturers were informed by Exposition Manager Martin that approximately 25 per cent of the available space has been leased to manufacturers who will participate in the exposition.

ALL 'QUEENING' BARRED TO U. C. FOOTBALL SQUAD

BERKELEY, Sept. 12.—Being a football hero has its serious drawbacks, according to the members of the University of California championship squad. While it is true that the coaches heap attentions upon the athletes, Andy Smith, coach of the team, has announced that the players must remain in hiding after dark.

Eight o'clock is the hour set by the coaches as the bedtime for the athletes, and their last night of freedom was allowed this week, "queening," which is the unchallenged privilege of all students of the university except the members of the freshman class, has been denied the football men by the coaches, because dancing and attending parties will keep them out after bed time.

PUBLIC WORK IS PROPOSED TO AID STATE JOBLESS

Rigorous Conditions of East Bay Cities.

State and federal attention will be directed to the unemployment situation which California will share with the rest of the country this winter, according to leaders of various industrial employment agencies. It is being possible to put in operation a state law passed by the last legislature which will be given to thousands of men on the various state projects that are to be built. The law provides that times of extraordinary unemployment the public works be extended. The measure came up two years ago and was vetoed by Governor Stephens, but now appears in this session. Paul Sharronburg, who is interested in trying to make it apply this winter, says that there is available for work that might be done under the provisions of irrigation projects, levee work, drainage canals, road building and state highway work.

Robert Hoover has called for a conference to survey the conditions on the Pacific coast, an indication that the government is to consider remedial means. It is also pointed out that the building program is showing a steady increase and that thousands will be given employment in that field unless there is an unusually rainy season to tie up construction. The greatest additions to the number of unemployed have come from the railroads and with the return of the fishing fleets.

John Kelley, district director of industrial employment, said today that he believed that the winter would present some new problems, but that the bay cities would not experience the rigorous conditions that are to obtain in the east.

Hotel Men Ask For Lower Train Fares

Resolutions asking Congress to lift the war tax on railroad transportation and surcharges on Pullman rates were adopted by the Southern Hotel Men's association as an initial move in a campaign to bring thousands of tourists to California in 1922. The action was taken at a meeting of the association in San Francisco last evening at a session at which a number of Oakland men were present. Copies of the resolution were ordered sent to Congress and to President Harding. Among the hotel men from the side of the bay present were: Louis Aber, Henry Barker, William Jacobs and S. C. Williams.

U. C. Extension To Launch Bird Class

What kind of gulls follow the ferries on San Francisco Bay? What bird sings in the middle of the night? How do you distinguish a song sparrow from a white-crowned sparrow? These and many other questions will be satisfactorily answered if you will join the university extension bird study class. If you can spare Saturday afternoons for excursions in bird land, join the class "Six Trips Ahead."

An organization meeting will be held in the California development board room on Saturday, September 17, at 2 o'clock. The first excursion will be taken on September 20. The class will study on the university campus and in the museum.

CINCH NOTICES EXPECTED TO BREAK RECORD

BERKELEY, Sept. 13.—Cinch notices will be issued at the University next week. The warnings which are issued by the college authorities to students deficient in class work are expected by faculty members to surpass in number of any previous year. The notices, which will be the first of the new term, will also be the first lot to be issued under the new marking system, which was installed at the opening of the present semester.

Romance and Lure of South Seas Are Told
By Writer After Twelve Years of ResidenceCharm of Region Grows With Acquaintance, Declares
Frederick O'Brien.

By E. VAN LIER RIBBINT.
Whether one is entranced by the azure-hued South Seas and their palm-fringed isles, shining beaches and capes fanning far out to sea like poems of Africa, or whether one remains unperturbed—this all depends on the point of view. James O'Brien, whether you can love and admire the ducky maidens, imbued and luminous with a philosophy of life that is foreign to the hectic hunt for metropolitan existence out of their civilized sisters—this too depends upon your state of mind.

Such is the dilemma of Frederick O'Brien, California's adventurous interpreter of the quaint, quaint, unexplored life and glories of the South Seas, who has once again returned to his Sausalito home from the "happy shores without a law—capt in fond forgetfulness of life," of which Byron rhymed.

Whether one is entranced by the azure-hued South Seas and their palm-fringed isles, shining beaches and capes fanning far out to sea like poems of Africa, or whether one remains unperturbed—this all depends on the point of view. James O'Brien, whether you can love and admire the ducky maidens, imbued and luminous with a philosophy of life that is foreign to the hectic hunt for metropolitan existence out of their civilized sisters—this too depends upon your state of mind.

Frederick O'Brien, famous author of South Seas books, who says "Polynesia has lost nothing of its charm to me."

The famous author, and one-time reporter, merely shrugged his shoulders as this criticism was brought to his notice. He said: "It all depends on the state of mind."

Then he quoted the evergreen line: "Romance is dead—the covenants said."

It is a fact that O'Brien has always contended that "appreciation of the South Seas depends on the state of mind." When last we met, I introduced him to James W. Gerard, here as an aspirant for the Democratic nomination for the presidency. The Ex-Ambassador to Germany spoke of nothing but the South Seas and went about with a volume of the "White Shadows" tucked under one arm. We called on Gerard headquarters and O'Brien was asked which delegate he represented. He answered: "The South Seas" and just then Ex-Ambassador Gerard appeared. He said: "Mr. O'Brien, what are the South Seas?" and the author answered: "They are a state of mind, Mr. Gerard."

And yesterday Frederick O'Brien said, in the course of a good-humored dissection of his critics' arguments:

"It's not given to everybody to appreciate the South Seas. I have spent altogether over twelve years in the tropical Pacific, and I am as much enchanted by nature and the people there as ever. I have just returned from six months in Polynesia, and find it has lost nothing of its charm to me. That's all one can say. It's absolutely the mind and soul of man that count when you get to the South Seas. The man who goes there for business or as a tourist can hardly see it. You see through the eyes of your own temperament—and it's all there! You tell me it has been said in criticism that the women of the South Seas are not beautiful as I have maintained? That depends upon the viewpoint. Pierre Loti, the great French author, said fifty years ago, speaking of the women of the Marquesas:

Spirit of Spice and Adventure Haunts All Spots in Polynesian District.

"These beauties are not of France, their features are carved with a hatchet." But the beauty of the Polynesian female is in her vitality, strength, color and form, though the form and color are not those of Market street or Broadway. They remain nearer to nature than the white, because they have never lived close to nature, and upon her simplest products. They are the children of the sun, the surf, and the sand of the beach. Always they wear young and old, flowers of brilliant hue in their hair, over their ears, or in wreaths about their necks. They are as artless as children, with only the guile they have learned from the missionary, the trader and the governor.

SOCIAL CUSTOMS.
"Just a word as to clothing—which seems also to have been the subject of comment. It is true that the rounded figures of the women of Polynesia have frequently been criticized by the prudery of the missionaries, and for the profit of the trader, with cotton cloth, and one does not as in early days often see the Polynesian in ancient garb. But even the chiefs in certain parts of Samoa wore the single garment of tree bark, called 'Slapo'."

"In Samoa I lived recently on the island of Savaii, which is the least touched by civilization. There I found what seemed to me the most beautiful place on earth, a village built as before the whites, a shining beach, a broad, beautiful river. A merry, healthy, singing and dancing people who, on moonlit nights, went to bed only with the moon. They looked so lovely by the fire, and their trade and religion, but yet had kept more than any other Polynesian the ways of living of their forefathers."

"Now through what eyes does the average white look upon these people? The painter of pictures of nature, of 'genre', sets down only what he himself has seen. He has a hundred appearances to different people. In fact, it's like the Martin hills we saw yesterday from the Ecuador as we entered the Golden Gate. I looked toward Sausalito, and saw the expanse of rolling brown hills, and I saw it with live, intense admiration. But some of those about me did not so see it. When I exclaimed 'how beautiful,' they said, 'they look like a desert'—and a desert to them was an appalling place."

"Now as to the people of the South Seas, the Polynesian in appearance and disposition is very different from his white visitor. He has not all the same values as the white. The measure of his happiness to him. To be busy about anything that is not vital to his life, or that is not play, is to him absurd. To what is necessary—your companions, eat, sleep, dress and be housed in comfort, and then communicate with nature in the sea, in the brook, or by gazing in the sky—such is his philosophy of living."

"These Polynesians, because of this attitude and mode of life lack the affliction of civilization and nerves, life is a pleasure to them. They are always calm, except when love or play gives vent to their emotions. They play hard, and they love hard."

"O'Brien is inclined to look upon certain criticism as 'The quarrel between the romanticist or the poet and the stupid realist who thinks the world as empty as his spirit.' He concluded:

"A man must have his dream, and he may realize it in the South Seas if he is awake to the truth of nature, and does not look for an identity with his civilized surroundings."

CITY MARKET CASE TO BE APPEALED,
CLAIMS MAYORAppeal From Decision of Judge Quinn Is Authorized
By Berkeley Council.

BERKELEY, Sept. 12.—The municipal market case, thrown out by Judge James G. Quinn, will be taken into court again and on it Mayor Louis Bartlett will seek to establish, in addition to the permanence of the market, his own powers as mayor. According to the mayor, the case now contemplated will be of the nature of test actions which may affect every city in the state.

At the request of Bartlett, the council has authorized an appeal from the decision of Judge Quinn yesterday and in addition paved the way for a suit to force Auditor E. Carl Bank $225, his August salary. The decisions will determine, Bartlett says, whether a mayor has the right to enforce an ordinance and whether or not the mayor is to be excluded as a beneficiary under the operation of the market ordinance.

Sick Benefits Planned by
I. D. E. S. Supreme Body

Extending the scope of the Supreme Council to include a sick benefit, increasing the limit from 50 per cent to 80 per cent which is placed upon investment of funds in bonds and reorganizing the state into three districts, placing them under the jurisdiction of the president, vice-president and master of ceremonies, were considered at the second day of the twenty-ninth annual convention of the I. D. E. S. in Odd Fellows hall.

The supreme council meeting was called to order at 9 a. m., and continued through the day.

Sick benefits have been maintained heretofore by local councils. It is proposed to establish the branch with the state organization. Funds in school, highway, state and federal bonds. The limit has been placed at 80 per cent, an increase to 80 per cent is being urged.

ELECTION TOMORROW.
At the present time the supreme president is obliged to visit the councils within the state organization, the office making large demands upon his time. One hundred and fifty-four councils are affiliated. By dividing the state into three geographical districts other supreme officers will share the burden of administration.

GOTHAM THIEF SENDS PAPERS TO LOCAL MAN

When Blanka Everett, membership secretary of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce, was on the point of leaving New York for Oakland last year, he had his pockets picked on Broadway, losing a pocket book containing currency and private papers. He treated the incident as one of life's little tragedies and said no more about it.

Yesterday, a long pink envelope was placed on Everett's desk. It opened it—and there were the contents of his pocketbook, papers, currency, et al—but no currency. The thief evidently had arrived at a partial compromise with his conscience.

Everett, who is no mean psychologist, expects that the currency itself will arrive in another pink envelope, as soon as the thief feels another pang of remorse.

SECOND PROTEST IS FILED AGAINST
NEW MARBLE YARDProposed Works At Piedmont
Ave. and Pleasant Valley Are Opposed.

A repetition of a protest against the establishment of a marble-cutting works at Piedmont avenue and Pleasant Valley was taken before the city council today and finally referred to the street department. It was admitted there is at present no ordinance against it and a new ordinance would have to be written to in the case.

"Why should there be such a factory in that place?" asked Mayor Davie.

"There are plenty of others," said City Attorney Gray. "The vicinity is full of them. The residents want no more."

The proposed establishment is at the entrance to the cemetery. Commissioner Bacus will bring in his report tomorrow.

ARRESTED FOR BATTERY.
ALAMEDA, Sept. 13.—M. L. Hale, a riveter employed at a shipyard, was arrested in Tynan avenue last night on a warrant from the San Francisco police department. The warrant, sworn to by Violet Hale, 434 Bartlett street, San Francisco, charged Hale with battery.

An appropriation of $499 was made to pay the expenses of Fire Chief Sam Short to the Pacific Coast Fire Chiefs Association meeting at Victoria September 28-30, and the International Convention of Fire Chiefs at Atlanta, October 11.

Plans were adopted for the improvement of East Twenty-second street from Twenty-fifth to Twenty-seventh avenue, and Essex street from Alcatraz avenue northerly.

The ingredients for the making of prosperity is within our reach—it is up to us to use them with energy and wisdom.
